ULSTER TO BLAME IF WAR COMES

Henderson Denounces Ulster's Attitude in Irish Peace Negotiations

Sinn Fein Made Concessions But Ulster Refused to Move an Inch

British Labor Head Declares Nothing Can Justify Resumption of War

LONDON, Dec. 3.—Ulster's attitude in the Irish peace negotiations was attacked by Arthur Henderson, secretary of the labor party, in an address yesterday, opening a fair organized by London laborites. He said the Sinn Fein had made concessions, but that Ulster had refused to move an inch, taking shelter under the pledge of Premier Lloyd George that he would not coerce Ulster.

"The door for peace," he declared, "was not open wide enough because Ulster prevented it. Are we to have another war because Ulster is unresponsive to the call of common sacrifice? Is there to be no peace except on Ulster's terms? If Ulster entertains a wild dream that the British people will allow Sinn Fein Ireland to be dragged down because Ulster wants its own particular form of settlement, they are only deluding themselves. Labor will oppose any such weakness."

He said he hoped nothing would be done to break off negotiations or terminate the truce. Nothing, he said, could justify a resumption of hostilities.

ROTARIANS PLAN FOR BIG TIME TUESDAY

Lowell Rotarians are to have a red-letter day next Tuesday afternoon at the Boys club on Dutton street, with two notable speakers coming to address the members after dinner, and a number of other good things on the program, including one or two Christmas projects that will come up for discussion.

The World at Washington and What Is Being Done There will be the topic discussed by Hon. Joseph Walker, former speaker of the Massachusetts house of representatives. The Rotarians will also hear J. C. Hale of the general manager's office of the Western Union Telegraph Co. It is expected that the attendance of members and guests Tuesday will make it necessary to set several dining tables on the second floor. Several important matters of business and club news are on the program for discussion before the speaking.

MUNICIPAL CAMPAIGN NOW ON IN EARNEST FOR ALL OFFICES

Mayoralty Candidates Have Not Yet Resumed Outdoor Rallies—Names of Candidates Numbered on Ballot—The Various Contests for Councilor and School Committee

Although but ten days remain before the city election, the campaign is still surprisingly quiet. Even the mayoralty candidates have not taken the stump yet, although it has been predicted since the primaries that the fight would be an exceedingly warm one.

There are several good speakers among the candidates for councilor and school committee, but they, too, are proceeding very quietly. During the next few days, however, there may be a decided change of tactics, and those who are keen for outdoor rallies may not be disappointed, after all.

Numbering Candidates on Ballot
The numbering of the candidates and the placing of their family names first, as on the voting lists, will be a great boon to those who drew positions near the end in the councilor at large and school committee groups.

Another Big Seizure by Liquor Squad

The police liquor squad under the direction of Sgt. Michael H. Winn, this noon seized two 60-gallon stills, 25 gallons of moonshine, 19 barrels of mash, four gas stoves and a quantity of empty jugs, bottles and other liquor-making paraphernalia in four rooms of an empty tenement on Cabot street. In connection with the raid they arrested a man who gave his name as Charles Lamas, and who, according to the police, admitted he was selling the liquor at $5 a gallon. There was nothing in the rooms, the officers say, except the stills, booze and all the accessories necessary to manufacture it.

SENTENCES GIRLS TO SPEND 24 HOURS IN MEDITATION AND PRAYER

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Dec. 3.—Two girls arrested for shoplifting today were serving a sentence of "24 hours' meditation and prayer," ordered by Police Court Justice Shove.

"Spend 24 hours in meditation and prayer," said the judge. "Search your consciences and bare your faults before your eyes. Then let me know you are sorry—not that you were caught, but because you stole."

SOLD MOONSHINE FOR $1 THE PINT

Judge Enright in the district court today imposed a fine of $100 on Vasillos Vasillos, of Adams street, for unlawful keeping of intoxicating liquor. The defendant offered a plea of guilty and paid the fine. Officers Cossette and Kenney, of the liquor squad, testified that Vasillos has been selling moonshine at a dollar per pint and yesterday they found a quantity of moonshine, and mash and a stove in his rooms.

Weather conditions during the past two days did not prevent the expert line crews from accomplishing a substantial amount of work, and in several sections of Lowell electric lighting service was restored on main circuits.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE IS DISMISSED

A charge of manslaughter preferred against James A. Cudworth, Jr., of Village street, following the death of five-year-old Arthur Cudworth, of Highland avenue, who was struck by an automobile driven by the defendant on Oct. 23 on Chestnut street near Crescent, was dismissed by Judge Enright in district court today. Five Prescott Street Stores Were Broken Into Last Night—Safe Robbery at Normal School

A safe in the State Normal school on Broadway was pried open and its contents, about $60 in cash, stolen and five business places on Prescott street were entered some time last night or early this morning. Today the police inaugurated a sweeping investigation which they hope will result in the apprehension of the alleged culprits.

Although the authorities link the Prescott street burglaries with the same perpetrators, they are certain the Normal school job was committed by other persons and are led to believe those responsible for this break and robbery are connected with a gang of similar thieves who have been reported at work in schools of cities and towns throughout the state.

The Prescott street jobs are believed by the police and by the owners of the stores and offices entered to have been the work of boys. Nothing of great value was taken in any of the five places, although each had been thoroughly ransacked. Entrance to these business places was in some cases obtained by rear windows, the miscreants first breaking the glass and then unlatching the lock. The places entered were the Bay State Steam Dye Works at number 54, the Grand Union Tea company at 65, the Gookin Furniture company at 65, the Standard Supply Clothing company at 72, and the Robertson Furniture company at 75 to 82. Although there was much valuable stock in all of the above firms nothing of substantial value was touched and for that reason the police and the managers are of the opinion the work was that of boys.

ARBUCKLE JURY IS STILL OUT

Rumors Current Last Night That Jury Stood 11 to 1 for Acquittal

Throng Packed Courtroom and Corridors in Hope of Hearing Verdict

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—Nothing remained of the Roscoe Arbuckle manslaughter trial today but a verdict and, if that was adverse to him, a sentence.

The fate of the comedian, accused of having caused the death of Virginia Rappe, a motion picture actress, was given to the jury shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Rumors were current last night that the jury, composed of seven men and five women, stood 11 to 1 for acquittal, but no agreement had been reached at 11 o'clock and the debating ceased to permit the members to retire for the night.

A throng that packed the courtroom and corridors outside in the hope of hearing the verdict expressed disappointment when the jury was locked up for the night.

Jury Returns From Hotel

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—The jury considering the evidence submitted in the trial of Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe returned to the jury room from its hotel at 10 o'clock this morning.

TO START BIG 'CLEANUP' DRIVE TOMORROW

The entire force of the park department, augmented by more than twenty teams and 100 men from the health department, will start work tomorrow morning in an effort to hurry along the removal of debris in the streets and parks accumulated as a result of the recent storm.

This action was taken after a conference between Superintendent of Parks John W. Kernan and Mayor Perry D. Thompson. They agreed that an unexpected cold spell would greatly hamper the park department's work, and decided to combine their efforts.

The teams which will be used are the 24 regular double teams of the health department, and the additional force of workers will be recruited from the regular help of this department and the special police officers.

DAIL CABINET CONSIDERS OFFER

Meets in Dublin to Take up Latest Proposals for Irish Peace Settlement

Belief Expressed That Terms Will be Unacceptable to de Valera and Advisers

DUBLIN, Dec. 3.—Members of the Dail Eireann cabinet assembled today to consider the British government's latest proposals for an Irish peace settlement. There is little optimism as to its decision and the Sinn Fein peace delegates who have returned from London, are reported as believing the revised terms will be unacceptable to Eamon de Valera and his advisers.

The exact nature of the proposals is not known, but they are said to be based on an All-Ireland parliamentary government, one of

VESSELS COLLIDE; THREE DROWNED

Members of Crew of Steamer Cambria on Way to Dublin Perished

Three Sinn Fein Peace Delegates Aboard Steamer Forced to Turn Back

BELFAST, Dec. 3. (By the Associated Press).—Three members of the Sinn Fein peace delegation, bound for Dublin from England, were turned back on their voyage today when the steamer Cambria on which they were traveling, collided with a schooner soon after leaving Holyhead. The schooner was sunk and three of her crew were drowned. The Cambria, although reporting only slight damages, was obliged to return to Holyhead.

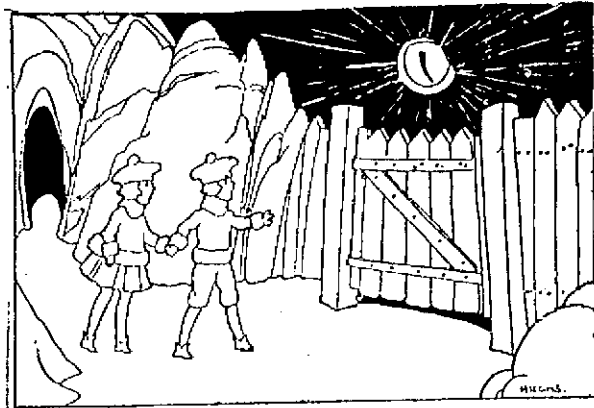

The Irish delegates on board the steamer were Michael Collins, Sinn Fein minister of finance, George Gavan Duffy, and Eshelby Chubb. They were on their way from London after the recent important conferences with Premier Lloyd George and his advisers and had been expected to take part in today's consideration by the Dail Eireann authorities of the British government's latest proposals for a peace settlement.

The collision occurred at 4 a. m. off North Stack, Holyhead. The Cambria sent out wireless calls for aid and a lifeboat was started for the scene, but meanwhile the Cambria's boats were active and rescued four of the schooner's crew.

Adventures of the Twins

"INSIDE THE GATE"

IN FRONT OF THEM STOOD A HIGH GATE LIGHTED BY A GREAT CAT'S EYE WHICH GLEAMED IN THE DARKNESS.

At last the Twins reached the other end of the secret passage which led from Brownland to the Gnomish village. In front of them stood a high gate lighted by a great cat's eye which gleamed in the darkness. There were no glow worms or fire flies in the passage and no crystals hanging from the ceiling like there were in Mr. Pin's domain.

"Who are you and what do you want?" asked a voice.

"The voice seemed to come from the cat's eye, but as the eye had no cat belonging to it seemingly, and most eyes have, it wasn't likely that it could own a voice. All the eye could do was to gleam and stare as though it dared the Twins to answer. But Nancy and Nick were always polite and they had been taught to answer when they were spoken to, no matter if it was only a voice that spoke to them and nothing or no one else at all."

And of course they were not afraid. They never, never, never, were that. "We're the twins," answered Nick for both of them, "and we've come after Kip. Do you know if he is within?" Being in Fairyland it sounded far more fairy-like to say "within" than just plain, ordinary, everyday "inside."

"Kip," exclaimed the voice in surprise. "So you're after Kip! But there! What do I care whether you are after Kip or not? Do you know how to play 'truth'?"

"Y-um h'm," nodded Nancy, almost but not quite forgetting Pin's warning about saying "yes."

"Well, then, come inside and we shall have a game," went on the voice. Whereupon an ugly little gnome stepped out of the shadow and opened the gate.

Lynn Shoe Workers to Investigate Wages

LYNN, Dec. 3.—The Joint Council of the United Shoe Workers in a letter to the Shoe Manufacturers' association today announced that it had appointed a committee of "inquiry and adjustment" to investigate wages, hours and working conditions in the local shoe industry. The committee consists of five delegates from the council and the business agent of each of the 10 constituent unions. The investigation was devised upon, union officials said, as the result of differences between the union and the Manufacturers' association over the latter's proposal for immediate abolition of the 20 per cent wage bonus. The manufacturers refused to agree to a proposal by the unions that a board of arbitration examine factory books in a proposed investigation.

Former Postmaster of Springfield Dead

PITTSFIELD, Dec. 3.—Edward T. Scully, for five years postmaster of Pittsfield and who completed his duties Sept. 1 last, died early this morning. He was 51 years of age, married and a graduate of Williams college and the Columbia law school of Washington. He was a member of the Berkshire Bar and had served as secretary of the Berkshire Bar association. He was at one time chairman of the planning board of Pittsfield.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The tank steamer Santa Rita, which sailed from New Orleans Oct. 20 for Spezia, Italy, is reported 18 days overdue. She carries a crew of about 40 men signed at Baltimore, and is owned by the American Fuel Oil & Transport Co.

SALESMAN SAM

"GREAT OAKS FROM LITTLE ACORNS GROW"

Starting a tiny kitchen printing establishment with a second-hand dzo hand press that could be tucked away on the clock shelf whenever his wife had to set the table for company, Joseph J. Martin has organized a $100,000 corporation and with the aid of two Centralville business men plans to "roll his own" proofs in the future.

The new concern, located in roomy quarters in the building at the corner of West Fourth and Bridge streets, Centralville, is to be known as the Martin Printing and Publishing Co. Martin is president and general manager, and Victor J. Hanel of Centralville, secretary and treasurer.

Mr. Martin, who was born in Nashua, came to Lowell seven years ago. When the home kitchen became too small for printing purposes, Martin purchased some more type, funds, rules and quibbles, and ambled over to larger quarters nearby.

There he used a 5x13 hand press, but the rollers were slipping too often and big jobs were coming in, so one day when the top roll jumped out and hit the floor, Martin decided that a power-press was all he could use in the future. Last July he got a bargain lot of presses and some 235 fonts of new type, and struck out for the real business.

He landed a good mill contract not long ago, and as his plant was not large enough to handle the "prospects," he decided to organize a company, securing papers from the office of the secretary of state last week.

Mr. Martin, when he isn't setting type and figuring on mill printing jobs, attends the meetings of Lowell lodge, No. 618, Loyal Order of Moose, belongs to several printing trade as-

MEMORIAL EXERCISES

Lowell Lodge of Elks Will Hold Memorial Exercises Sunday Evening

Arrangements have been completed for the annual memorial exercises of Lowell lodge of Elks, No. 87, to be held Sunday evening in the Lowell Opera House. Twelve members of Lowell lodge have passed away since the 1920 exercises were held and their memory will be fittingly and impressively honored. The exercises will be delivered by Hon. John F. Malley of Springfield lodge, former collector of the port of Boston and an orator of note.

Members of the Lowell lodge will assemble in the Elks' rooms, in Middle street, at 7 o'clock, and will march in a body to the Opera House. The general public is cordially invited to join with the Elks in paying tribute to their departed members.

The exercises in Lowell will be held synchronously with Elks' memorial ceremonies all over the United States. The first Sunday in December is always set apart by Elksdom for the honoring of their dead.

An excellent musical program has been arranged for the occasion under the direction of Commissioner James E. Donnelly. The evening's program, which will open at 8 o'clock, will be as follows:

STARGLIGHT GIRLS DANCE

More than 100 persons attended the annual dance of the Starlight Girls in Lincoln hall last evening. The event was an enjoyable one, the crowd remaining until a late hour. The committee of arrangements comprised the Misses Gertrude Conkery, Genevieve Paul and Catherine Lamb.

ARMS CONFERENCE BEAUTY

One topic of international interest at the arms parley at Washington is "Who's the most beautiful woman at the conference?" That honor generally goes to Mme. H. M. Van Haerema De With, wife of a Dutch representative.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, Dec. 3.—Civil service examinations will be conducted by the department of civil service on Jan. 14 and 25 for positions in the clerical service of all the cities of the state, as well as for similar positions in the state service.

The first examination, Jan. 14, will be conducted in Boston, and will be for those living within easy commuting distance of the city. The examination of Jan. 25 will be held in the larger cities of the state, including Worcester, Springfield, Pittsfield, North Adams, Fall River or New Bedford, and Lowell or Lawrence, the place in each instance being determined to suit the convenience of the largest number of applicants.

In order to take the examinations, applicants must obtain blanks from the civil service department at the state house or from the representative of the state in each of the principal cities, and these blanks, properly filled out and sworn to, must be filed at least ten days before the date of the application.

There are four grades in the clerical service, paying salaries ranging up to $1,600 per year.

War veterans who are successful in passing the examination will be placed at the head of the eligible list above all other applicants. This is in accordance with an act passed two years ago.

The examination will include tests in spelling, letter writing, penmanship, copying, transcribing from rough draft, rapid computation and arithmetic. In addition, for the higher salaried positions, applicants may be required to demonstrate a knowledge of bookkeeping, stenography, typewriting, filing, cataloging and foreign languages.

"FOUR STEPS IN A SUCCESSFUL LIFE"

The speaker at the men's meeting to be held tomorrow afternoon in the Y.M.C.A. will be Dr. Nathan R. Wood of Boston. He will speak on "Four Steps in a Successful Life."

Dr. Wood is president of the Gordon Bible college, an institution which has become known in late years because of the number of young men and women it has trained and sent into the missionary field.

The soloist for the afternoon will be George Drew, president of the Lowell Choral society. Harry E. Hockman, industrial secretary of the "Y," will lead the mass singing, while H. F. Howe, general secretary will preside.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHAS

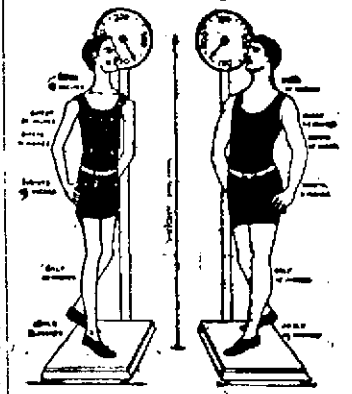

The result of the annual election of officers for Wamsut lodge 25, Knights of Pythas, which took place last evening, was as follows: Samuel Northam, chancellor; commander, S. W. KING AIDS JAIL BIRD

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 1.—On the return of King Constantine from Greenland, he unwittingly helped an escaped convict. The man had crossed the Arctic sea in a frail canoe and got a clear and safe from the king in recognition of his bravery. Landing at Greenland, the king learned of his escape and ordered his arrest.

ARE YOU SCRAWNY AND WITHOUT FORCE

The Way To Get Heavier And Stronger

Your weight tells your condition. Are you losing or are you gaining? If you want to put on solid, permanent flesh and fill your system with more force and energy you should try a little DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEST with your meals.

DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEST enters into what you eat, adds your digestion and gives your body that healthful, strong energy and nourishment elements in the vitamins. These are destroyed in the process of cooking many of the ordinary foods.

If you are thin, too light for your height, weak and tired; if you are forever catching cold, you will find it worth while to try this simple experiment: First measure and weigh yourself, then take DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEST TABLETS, two of them with each meal. At the end of a week, measure and weigh yourself, and continue to take MEDIC-YEST TABLETS until you have gained all the weight you want.

It is not a matter of heavey or opinion as to what it does for you—the mirror, the scales and tape measure will tell the story that cannot be disputed.

DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEST TABLETS will positively form more solid flesh and increase energy when taken with every meal. DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEST should not be used by anyone who is opposed to acquiring normal weight.

DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEST is fully guaranteed by the makers. Always insist on having the genuine DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEST. Fred Howarth, A.W. Howe, F. H. Butler & Co., 315 Middlesex st.; Routhier & Dolley, 62 Merrimack st., carry DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEST or can quickly procure it for you from their jobbers—there is nothing else like it—Adv.

BOXING

Mike Castillo, featherweight champion of Lawrence, is another boxer who is being heavily underdoged in his last few bouts, particularly the one with Guslin the other night. His reports were in circulation that Mike could not be beaten without a fight, but after the way he assimilated Guslin's vicious punches to the mid-section and retaliated, none who witnessed the bout will give much credence to those rumors.

Castle appears to have all the essentials needed to be a pronounced success in the ring. He is a well-doubt one of the cleverest boys of his weight in this part of the country. He can use both hands at long range as well as on the inside. He can hit with speed and accuracy. He uses unusual ring generalship, and his footwork is a treat to look upon.

In winning over Guslin he defeated one of the hardest hitting feather-

Bunge Is a Modern Superman

When speaking of superman, don't overlook George Bunge, star center on the University of Wisconsin football team.

During the three years that he has played on the varsity team at Wisconsin, Bunge hasn't lost a single minute.

Football is unquestionably the most strenuous of all sports, yet Bunge seems to have thrived on it. He has played in the center in the western conference.

Several times he has been injured, but the usual rest always brought him around and he is able to continue. Never has a substitute been sent in the game to relieve Bunge.

During his football career at Wisconsin, he took part in 21 games, against the best teams in the conference.

Twenty years ago, Bunge's father was a star at University of Wisconsin. In the three years that he starred in the eleven, he didn't lose a minute.

Truly, like father, like son.

WHIRLWIND POLO GAME NOIR DAME COACH IS FISH AND GAME CLUB

Lowell Defeats New Bedford 5 to 4, in Great Contest—Quigley Star

SPORTS—E. H. D.—WHIRLWIND. Capt. Quigley led the Lowell poloists to victory over the New Bedford Whalers in a fast and bitterly contested game at the Crescent rink last night by the score of 5 to 4.

Rarely has a more closely fought game been seen here, and both clubs brought into play superior polo. Four times during the game the ball was tied and the winner was fought right up until the final blast of the horn.

Quigley, the Lowell leader, turned in a wonderful exhibition, setting a splendid example which was followed by the rest of his charges. The local captain worked on both the defensive and offensive, watching Duggan, one of the best players in the league, and the ball the night. He held the speed of the game to a further and also scored three peachy goals.

Duggan and Alexander worked a fine combination offensive which had the Lowell defense in a state of confusion. Alexander did most of the scoring, but he drove hard and true, only to find Pete Welsh's "kneepunch" always in the way. Duggan forced in a number of goals, and Morrison and Blount contributed materially to the team's success.

For New Bedford, Bill Duggan, as mentioned in the first column, was down the door with amazing speed and kept plugging all the way. He scored but two goals, but only classed defensive work by the Lowell blazers.

Early in the game, Willey, who was busy and he landed a brace in the net. Paul Gardner was not in the New Bedford lineup and Mitchell allied in at halfback. While Gardner was greatly missed, the new man played a fairly good game.

Duggan was first to score, his goal coming after more than nine minutes of strenuous play. He made the count in 134. Then the period ended. The Whalers went to the front as the second session got underway, with Willey sending one by Blount's hand in the first five minutes.

PELLETIER QUILTS AS CANDIDATE

Withdraws From Boston Mayoralty Race in Favor of Ex-Mayor Curley

Announcement Made Ten Minutes Before Expiration of Time Yesterday

BOSTON, Dec. 3.—Dist. Atty. Joseph C. Pelletier withdrew as a candidate for mayor of Boston yesterday afternoon, about 10 minutes before the expiration of the time within which withdrawals could be made. At 1:50 Frederick Enright, of the Boston Telegram entered the office of the Boston election commission and filed Mr. Pelletier's formal withdrawal.

None of the other candidates for mayor withdrew, and the following names will therefore be on the ballot on election day: Charles S. Baxter, James M. Curley, John R. Murphy and Charles S. O'Connor.

Several conferences between the friends of Mr. Curley and Mr. Pelletier, respectively, were held yesterday for the sake of deciding which one, if either, of the two should retire in favor of the other. Mr. Pelletier said, late on Thursday, that he was willing to submit the question to a committee of three, which should be composed of one of his supporters, a representative of Mr. Curley, and a third man to be chosen by the other two. Mr. Curley at once assented and selected Theodore A. Glynn to represent him. EX-UT. S. Dist. Atty. Daniel J. Gallagher was appointed as Mr. Pelletier's partisan.

Enright Third Man

Messrs. Glynn and Gallagher met yesterday morning and tried to agree on a third man, but without result. Mr. Enright was suggested. He was accepted and at 4:25 yesterday afternoon the committee, with the two candidates for mayor, met at the Parker House. The availability of each candidate was presented as thoroughly as possible, and after a session of about 20 minutes Mr. Enright decided that ex-Mayor Curley would be the stronger man to oppose Mr. Murphy. Then came the trip to the room of the election commission.

The news had hardly come out when Mr. Curley appeared in Court square and held an informal reception with his many friends who were there. They were highly enthusiastic. Early in the evening Mr. Pelletier issued a statement in which he urged all his supporters to turn to Mr. Curley.

Mr. Pelletier's withdrawal radically changes the political situation. If he and Mr. Curley had remained in the contest, there would have been little doubt that Mr. Murphy would be elected. The Charles-town candidate, who has the indorsement of the Good Government association, will now have to make a hard fight, as even his friends admit. Most of the politicians expect a decided swing toward Mr. Curley during the next few days. Time will tell how long that movement will last and whether it will be strong enough to defeat the Good Government candidate.

Lowell's Auto Show for 1922 Will Be the Best Ever

Lowell's 1922 Automobile Show will open at the Casino in Thorndike street, Monday evening, January 23, to continue for a week. It was announced last evening by Dan O'Dea of the Lowell Motor Mart, who will once more manage the show.

It is planned to make the 1922 show bigger and better than ever. Practically every Lowell automobile and automobile accessory dealer will be represented in the exhibition which is expected to take every inch of available space at the Casino. Lots are already being reserved by the various dealers and so great is the demand becoming that Manager O'Dea, a month and a half before the show is scheduled to open, has been forced to limit each dealer to two or three spaces at the outside. Each dealer is anxious, of course, to show one of each of the models which he handles, but it will be manifestly impossible for all of them to be accommodated.

The Lowell show, which will be presented before the big Boston show, will give people of Lowell and the surrounding towns their first opportunity to see the new 1922 models. Practically every make of car will be represented and all the features that have made previous shows a success will be part of the seventh annual automobile show. In addition, many new features have been planned. The decorations will surpass those of any previous years. It is stated.

There will be special nights during the show. Governor Cox has agreed to be present one night and there will also be a municipal night. A special feature this year will be "St. John's Hospital Night," the receipts of which will be turned over to the hospital for the equipment of a room. A number of other special features will be announced later.

Manager O'Dea hopes to make the 1922 show the best Lowell has ever had and judging from the co-operation he has already received from Lowell people, he says he feels confident that the 1922 exhibition will be one of which Lowell will be justly proud.

slight edge on his opponent, Eugene A. Fitzgerald, as he is a seasoned campaigner, but Mr. Fitzgerald is working quietly and efficiently and the result promises to be close.

Donald M. Cameron is picked by many of the ward 3 politicians as a sure winner, while friends of Louis J. Lord claim that his wide acquaintance in the district will land him rich and dry.

The campaign between the older and younger element is in full blast in ward 1, with the young men lined up behind Fred A. Sadler and the old-timers supporting the candidacy of John J. O'Connell, former member of the city council. Of course this lineup does not apply to all the voters in the ward, and the "silent vote" is expected to determine the winner.

In ward 5, Daniel F. Moriarty, a popular young man of the Lawrence street section, is engaged in a clean-cut contest with Paul J. Angelo, who resides in the Belvidere precinct. Mr. Angelo seems to have the advantage because of his wide acquaintance and the enthusiastic support of his many friends, but Mr. Moriarty should prove a worthy opponent.

In ward 6 Joseph A. N. Chretien, president of the C.M.A.C. and prominent in the social circles of the locality, is opposed by William N. Padden, who is identified with a well-known baking establishment, and both candidates seem confident of the voters' support.

Cornelius F. Cronin, anti-trust and vigorous campaigner who has had a conspicuous part in movements for public improvements in Pawtucketville, is a candidate in ward 7, and his opponent is Arthur Genest, a former member of the city council. Both are putting a vigorous campaign, but it is without bitterness.

In ward 8, William N. Goodell, former president of the chamber of commerce, is regarded as having the pole with his younger opponent, Arthur B. Chadwick, striving every effort to gain the lead. The entire ward is taking a deep interest in this contest.

BERTON BRALEY IN WASHINGTON "But It Doesn't Mean Anything"

The days are pleasant, they smile and they greet the press in a pleasant style. They bow the journalists in and out. And how the questions they ask about the eastern problem, the naval cut, Siberia, Yaw and Shantung—but, though Japanese voices smoothly ring.

They don't tell anyone anything.

The British chummily greet "the boys" with hearty manner and gentle poise. They talk with freedom on politics. And foreign problems of '26. But bring up matters of present date. They "really haven't a word to state." They smile at questions the press may bring.

But don't tell anyone anything.

The French are cordial as they can be. And the delegation from Italy. Makes every journalist feel at ease. In a way that's perfectly planned to please. But up to date, in their frankest moods. They've uttered nothing but platitudes. (Of those they've certainly pulled a string.) But they haven't told anyone anything.

So the press makes daily perambulations from delegation to delegation. But the calm Chinese and the restless Yank. Are the only folks who are blunt and frank. For the others talk in a way serene. So nobody knows what the talk may mean.

And as to the news that we hope they'll spring. They don't tell anyone anything.

Well, a diplomat has to dodge like that. To keep his little of diplomat. New tricks are tough on an old dog's mind. But even diplomats soon will find that the open door—and the open thought. Are the easiest way, as Hughes has taught. And with their policies thus unfurled. The delegations will "tell the world."

Fashion Suggestions, Valuable Household Tips and Other News of Interest to Women

Your Features Small? Then You Will Like the Helene Knot

THE HAIR AS IT LOOKS IN A HELENE KNOT

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Ah, yes, you have those delectably small features—rather regular, too—then your lovely soft, glossy hair must be done Helene-fashion.

The Helene, from the coiffure dictator, Madame Louise of Nestlé's, is a knot, slightly reminiscent of the one popularly known as the Greek in line and exceedingly kind to the woman whose nose is quite straight.

For this very simple coiffure the hair is parted in the middle, for only a short distance toward the crown of the head and then all drawn back loosely, leaving a soft fringe about the face.

Creators of fashion in hair and hair ornaments say the Helene will be exceedingly fashionable for evening functions this winter because its lines take huge feather combs with—oh, such an air!

THE WARM WAISTCOAT

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—There's a practical side to the clever little waistcoats the shops are showing. They make the open-front suit which you purchased in the fall and the straight lines of which you love, a possibility in winter. Over the sheer blouse put the clever one-button waistcoat—a warm solution for the lover of the open-front coat. They're shown in various colors. A smart combination is gray and black. Sometimes they sport colored beads on a checked surface, thus feminizing an otherwise rather masculine garment.

YOUR HEART AND HEAD

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Heart of you breathlessly whispering "Yes—yes—yes!"

Head of you practically disintegrating "No—not!"

Always viewing things from a different angle—that heart and that head of yours?

But they needn't any more. Head and heart can work together.

America's Five Most Famous Spinsters Gladly Admit They're "Old Maids"

Here are the most famous spinsters in America.

And the five are almost as well known in Europe as they are at home. Yet they all admit they're "old maids." One's 48, one 61, two 61 and the other won't tell her exact age, but confesses she's well over the traditional 35.

Why haven't they married? Because they've been too busy doing other things.

What?

The stage was the only place I should really be happy, and so I came here to this very building where my studio is and was told by a specialist in that sort of thing that the stage was not the place for me.

"So I went back to Galveston, Tex.—where I was born, and I taught. I began to study psychology and at length taught in a university which was beginning a course in applied psychology.

"I was asked to give lectures for clubs and organizations and usually met a woman from New York." Here Miss Sandall laughed again.

"You know," she said, "that woman promised me all of New York if I'd come here and give some lectures. So I came," still laughing, "and found the woman had gone to Europe and I was here, all of my bridges burned behind me and just one pupil!"

"So I rented a studio and put up my little sign and finally, tap—tap at the door, someone wanted to know what I was doing in here. I always told them; they were interested and told others who became interested until—now!" finished Miss Sandall.

And "now," for Miss Sandall, who dared New York with only one pupil and a very thorough knowledge of psychology, means—lectures for clubs, organizations, recognized schools, and classes every day.

HOW WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

May Escape the Dreaded Sufferings of that Period by Taking Mrs. Block's Advice

Hopkins, Minn.—"During Change of Life I had hot flashes and suffered for two years. I saw

It has been said that no woman in a thousand passes this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms. Those dreadful hot flashes, sinking spells, spots before the eyes, dizzy spells, nervousness, are only a few of the symptoms. Every woman at this age should profit by Mrs. Block's experience and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., will send their Private Text-Book, "Ailments Peculiar to Women," upon request. It is free, and contains valuable information.

Kathleen Norris Tells of Early Trials as Novelist

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—Confirming the experience of the average seeker of happiness that fame and fortune isn't often a gift of the gods.

Mrs. Kathleen Norris, one of America's most successful novelists, puts in evidence her early experiences on the road to eminence.

"I was several other things before I tried to be a writer," says Mrs. Norris. "Everyone discouraged me from the writing game, on the ground that I would starve. So in the few years that began my business career—from a moral, except perhaps that I have not starved as yet."

Mrs. Norris is now writing directly for the screen as one of the Goldwyn group of authors.

Brilliant Writers Act in This Play —But It Costs $25 to See It

MISS REBECCA WEST

(By N.E.A. Service)

LONDON, Dec. 3.—"Tickets, $25 each."

That sign hung in front of a theatre here when a performance was given for the benefit of children's libraries.

Miss Rebecca West, leading novelist.

"Margot" Asquith, wife of the former premier.

Miss Iris Tree, daughter of Sir Herbert Tree, brilliant poetess.

And among the men actors were W. I. George, the writer; Sir Gilbert Parker, novelist; Alfred Noyes, poet, and W. Pett Ridge, humorist.

King George and Princess Mary were in the audience.

The play? It was, "Not So Bad as We Seem," written in 1851 by Lord Lytton. When it was first produced Charles Dickens took part and Queen Victoria attended.

WHISTLES FOR EDUCATION

If you want an education you'll have to "whistle for it." Blanche Adelle Hawkins, pretty Los Angeles girl was told. And she's doing just that. She has found that a full purse can be maintained by pursed lips. A talented whistler she is working her way through the University of California by giving recitals and teaching students how to do birdlike trills.

soup, never with a fruit cocktail, and eggs or (through) fish, an entrée, the "remove," roast, salad, sweets, savory, dessert, and finally black coffee.

The menu is long and complicated.

Mock Turtle Soup

One-half a calf's head, 2 1/2 quarts second stock, 1 onion, 1 carrot, 1 turnip, 1 strip celery, bouquet-garni, 12 peppercorns, 2 cloves, 1 blade mace, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 1/4 pound lean beef, 4 pound lean veal, white 1 egg, salt.

Soak the head 20 hours in salt and water, changing the water often. Save brains and tongue for some other purpose. Remove bones and tie meat in kettle, cover with cold water and add 1 tablespoon salt.

Let boil up, strain off water, and wash head in clear, cold water. Return meat and bones to kettle, add stock and 1 dessertspoon salt. Boil up and skim well. Add vegetables, herbs and seasonings. Boil and remove scum. Simmer slowly for two and a half hours. Strain through cheesecloth and cool stock. Remove fat.

Put stock in kettle with the egg white and crushed shell and the coarsely chopped beef and veal moistened with little cold water. Stir well and bring to the boiling point. Simmer 20 minutes.

Strain into a fresh sauce pan, add lemon juice and about 1/4 cup of the meat of the head cut in small, neat pieces. Taste and add more salt and pepper if necessary. Let boil up once and serve. This will serve eight persons.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres' Own Press Agents
B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

"Sawing a Woman in Half" Next Week's Superlative Thriller at Keith's Theatre

For tomorrow's sterling bill at the B. F. Keith Theatre, J. Francis Dooley and Corinne Sale have been retained and no better comedy turn has been here during the entire year, so far, than this. Then there will be the Bowman Bros. noted imitators, Raymond Bond and Eleanor Magnusson, Peggie Carhart, the Commonwealth Four and Calista Conant.

"Sawing a Woman in Half," positively the most mystifying of stage sensations, will be the knockout headliner of next week's big show, opening on Monday. Can you believe it? Delivers in the mystic have long known of marvelous feats of Hindu fakirs that utterly controvert the laws of common sense and have baffled all attempts at solution. Grace Goldin presents this wonderful piece of mystery with the Great Jansen in the leading part. It is the contention of scientists that the famous and unsolved feat of the Oriental wonder workers are after all, accomplished solely by the hypnotic power of the performer, in compelling his beholders to see that which he wills them to see. But this explanation of a character that further tends to add to the mystery. For instance: Do you believe that the Great Jansen is able to hypnotize you into the actual belief that you are witnessing with your own eyes that which your own reason proclaims to be absolutely impossible? There is only one way to answer this riddle and that is to see for yourself. You have attended hypnotic exhibitions, and you know, perhaps, whether or not you were hypnotized. You feel, probably, that you were not, but that somebody else was. In "Sawing a Woman in Half," there is an excellent opportunity available to you to prove to yourself whether you are yourself or whether certain of your brain cells are held up in their work for a time. But, whether you are yourself or not, you will certainly see the Great Jansen sawing a woman in half. It is an act totally different in character from any ever seen before on the stage. It is worth while taking a good long look at.

The remainder of the bill is of great variety. Jack Princeton and Lillian Watson will put on the comedy story of "Brown Derbyville," which has to do with a stranded chorus girl, and Gen. Stanley and sister are southern products who will give "Bits of Dixie" in imitable fashion. Bert Byron and Dolly Gray have a "vaudeville frappe" called "A Girl's Weight," which is lively all the way through. The Four Casting Mellows are three men and a woman in a sensational aerial novelty, while Alpha and Delta Kane are two of Broadway's best performers. Frank Browne is a syncopating xylophonist.

OPERA HOUSE

Next Week's Presentation by the Lowell Players Will be "The Little Church Around the Corner"

"The Little Church Around the Corner," a companion play to that starting success of a few weeks ago, "Over the Hills to the Poor House," is to be the coming week's presentation by the Lowell Players at the Opera House, and judging from present indications it gives every promise of scoring the hearty pronounced success—and deservedly so too, for those who are in a position to judge unhesitatingly pronounce it one of the best stage successes of the season. Being demanded by the theatre-going public of Lowell and vicinity realize this fact for the advance sale for the week indicates another record-breaking business. A revival of this play in New York City recently resulted in making such a strong appeal to the playgoers of the metropolis that it is being demanded in all theatrical sections of the country. Six theatres in Greater New York played it last week and this coming week will see it produced in Portland, Me., Worcester, Mass., Bridgeport, Ct., Newark, N. J., Philadelphia, Pa., and other places. Owner Schaeke, of the Opera House, was fortunate indeed in securing it for local presentation at this early date through his close acquaintance with the author, who has struck a responsive chord in its various phases, so tender and touching, that it cannot help making a deep and lasting impression on all who see it. The author, having access to the records of the "little church" and also having an acute knowledge of the characters of high and low life in a big city, has not drawn strong upon the imagination, but has reflected life as it really is, intruding the struggles and triumphs of existence as well known to him. This story is founded on the machinations of an unscrupulous man to obtain a fortune not rightly his, but willed to a woman attendant at the church whose maiden are bent on reuniting from the enslaving habit a husband who is true and kind and noble when not under the influence of a harmful drug. There's a good love romance, plenty of humor, and dramatic possibilities that will commend themselves to all. The ending is wonderfully satisfactory.

THE STRAND

Another Big Offering at the Strand For the Coming Week—Look Them Over

Another program of super-special photoplays will characterize the weekly offerings at The Strand for the coming week. Look them over and judge for yourself. For the first three days of the week, Betty Compson, assisted by Lon Cheney and a distinguished cast will present "For Those We Love," a special Goldwyn production, and the other feature will be Hoot Gibson in "Red Courage." For the last three days of the week, starting with matinee on Thursday, the big super-special "No Woman Knows," with Edith Roberts in "Opened Shutters" will be the attraction. You can't afford to miss these choice photoplays offerings. And don't forget that the concerts on Sunday are composed of high-class vaudeville and an entire change of pictures.

"The Three Musketeers," the celebrated Alexandre Dumas masterpiece of the days of kings, queens, cardinals, musketeers and swordsmen, is to be an extra added attraction at The Strand for the first three days of the coming week. Little need be said of this well known and widely read story that has been translated from the French into many languages. In securing this wonder picture as an extra contribution to the program for the first part of the week, Manager Nelson is offering absolutely the biggest photoplay bill ever presented in this city. And the prices will remain the same. With this and the other two features that are found on the program, playgoers of Lowell and vicinity will find in it the greatest offering in the history of local pictures.

the super-special, "No Woman Knows." It's a truly big production, put on in a big way by a big cast, including some of our big favorites. It's a sensational, magnificent heart-drains adapted from the famous story, "Fanny Herself," and has all of the appealing, and satisfying elements that go in the making of truly remarkable screen offerings. The story concerns a young girl who takes up the burden that killed her mother, the burden of providing for her brother, who is supposed to be a genius. How she meets temptation, withstands it and finds happiness in the end, occupies the screen with one of the sincerest and strongest narratives ever filmed.

"Opened Shutters," with Edith Roberts starring, is another of her extremely entertaining film stories that has many interesting phases of life today, in which Miss Roberts finds ample opportunity to display her personal charm and exceptional talent as a screen favorite.

Chorus Girls Do Not Have to Marry Millionaires Any More, Says Jacqueline

JACQUELINE LOGAN

By N.E.A. Service
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—"Marry a millionaire? What for? Certainly not for what his money can buy!" This Jacqueline Logan, striking beauty of the revived "Floradora" sextette, answers conjecture that members of this aggregation might follow in the footsteps of their celebrated predecessors all of whom captured men of fortune.

"We don't have to marry millions any more we earn 'em," explains Jacqueline, evidently speaking for the sextette, none of whom has married. "Four ago poor girls went into the chorus because it gave them a chance to marry rich. Now they do it to win a chance at the movies and an independence that beats pin money from a wealthy husband."

"I know a millionaire's wife whose allowance isn't any bigger than my salary in pictures is going to be," And to show what kind of competitor the modern girl's out for a career, Miss Logan already has:

- One handsome auto and a chauffeur.
- One expensive bungalow in Hollywood.
- One maid, and an expensive wardrobe.
- One blue-ribbon show dog.
- One satisfying movie contract.
- "Why marry a millionaire?" she reiterates.

By N.E.A. Service
NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The lure of the footlights cannot be denied.

Consider Bessie Barriscale, famous on stage and screen, now appearing in "The Skirl," a play written especially for her by her husband, Howard Hickman.

"I was very much in love when I married, and quite sincere in my resolution to quit the stage," says Miss Barriscale. "It was crazy about my baby boy, but—well, now he's big enough so that I can divide my time between him and the stage."

Lillian Albertson is another who chose motherhood to the spotlight. She left the stage 12 years ago at the apex of success. "I have had that greatest of experiences," she says, "bringing a child into the world. I have cared for him tenderly until now he does not need all of my time. So I can return to the theatre."

Mrs. Leslie Carter, playing in "The Circle" after seclusion in France for a long time, says: "You know, once a woman has heard the call of the stage it is impossible to silence it."

Julia Arthur returned after more than 12 years in "The New Magdalen." The only thing that keeps her from the stage right now," she says, "is lack of a proper vehicle. I will not play the light, cynical sex stuff that seems the chief output today."

Another who said "Never again!" is Virginia Harned, who returned to play a special engagement with Arnold Daly. And there will be more increases in the list.

Beer, Lunch and Love Are Free in "The Lotus Eater"

JOHN BARRYMORE, HERE HERO OF "THE LOTUS EATER," A CLEVER SATIRICAL PHOTOPLAY MADE BY MARSHALL NEILAN. ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE WROTE IT.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—A South Sea Island. A guest house for shipwrecked strangers. Everything free—beer, lunch and love.

Tigers. Lambs. Rabbits. Turtles. Deer. And Bears. All living in perfect harmony and contentment.

This is the happy land found by John Barrymore in "The Lotus Eater," a new Marshall Neilan photoplay. It was adapted from Albert Payson Terhune's story of the same title.

Here's something new in the movies, one picture in a thousand.

It is rich satire. Civilized society, the South Sea vogue in literature and the Utopian theory of socialism are lampooned.

Barrymore, a monarch of the seas in the play, sees marry a woman until he is 25. Then he falls in love and marries the first one he meets.

She is a social butterfly. Unhappiness ensues. He attempts to fly across the Pacific in a blimp. Failing in that, he finds haven on an island.

One of his hosts orders a dinner for him at Corozzo's. Corozzo was no ordinary purveyor of Italian spaghetti. He was Count Corozzo, whose passion for cooking was always obstructed by his social position until he was washed upon the island.

The salad dressing was prepared by a Wall Street broker. You see, everyone on the island worked at the things which pleased them most to do.

Shipwrecked men and women from all nations were there. The costume of ancient Greece was adopted for general wear. The sewing circle out-dated Barrymore.

He lived upon the fat of the land and the wine of wrecked ships and in the love of a beautiful damsel.

But the thoughts of the wife at home disturbed him.

Even in Utopia one may become dissatisfied. Perhaps the sun will be reflected too strongly on the golden streets of heaven for those of us fortunate enough to get there.

These South Sea Islanders realized the weakness of humankind. They had hidden a boat for just such a situation as confronted Barrymore.

They gave the boat to him. He was picked up by a liner and taken to his home.

His wife had married another. Jazz music and dancing repelled him. Drunkards of New York were not as happily intoxicated as the tipplers of Utopia. Here in civilization were suffering and deceit and worry and harsh elements.

The wife left to choose between two husbands, ran off with a third man. Barrymore returned to the island. The beautiful damsel was waiting for him.

Unmarried girls of the island wear wreaths to distinguish them from the married. Barrymore entered the beautiful damsel's home.

Explosion of Still Wrecks Business Block

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Dec. 3.—The explosion of what is alleged to have been a whiskey still wrecked the top floor of a State street business block and caused damage of $25,000 at midnight. The explosion was followed by a fire which sent guests in an adjacent hotel to the street. Firemen claim they found 86 barrels of mash, five barrels of alcohol, 10 bags of sugar and a barrel of berries. The place was recently rented by the Sub-Rosa Distributing Co.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Building contracts awarded here during the first 11 months of the present year amounted to $348,473,000, or 10 per cent more than in the entire year of 1920, the P. W. Dodge Co., construction reporters, announced today.

U. S. Scout Boats Disabled in Storm

W LONDON, Conn., Dec. 3.—United States scout boats 108 and 177 became disabled in the storm off Watch Hill last night and were at its mercy until midnight. The boats were on their way to New Haven when water got into the gasoline, putting them out of commission. They sent out distress signals which were answered by the Watch Hill and Fisher's Island coast guard crews, but because of the rough water, they were unable to go to their assistance. A tug brought the boats and crews here today.

Is Every Day a Backache Day?

ARE you dragging along day after day, with a dull, nagging backache? Does morning find you tired, lame and stiff? And when evening comes are you all worn out—barely able to finish the day's duties and drag yourself to bed? Truly life can hold few pleasures when you feel so miserable. But don't be discouraged! Just realize that a cold, a chill or a strain has likely weakened your kidneys and brought on that all-day backache; those sudden, stabbing pains; the headaches, dizziness and bladder difficulties. But fortunately, kidney disorders are usually easily corrected, if treated promptly. So don't worry! Simply take things easier for awhile—get plenty of fresh air, rest and sleep, and help your weakened kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Read How These Lowell Folks Found Relief:

A. H. ROGERS, Machinist

20 Wilson St., Sayre

"Heavy lifting and colds settling in my kidneys affected them and brought on attacks of backache. When I stopped my back seemed to glow with terrible pain took me through the small of my back. My kidneys acted irregularly and the secretions were unnatural. I used Doan's Kidney Pills from Burklinshaw's Drug store and they soon rid me of the backache and fixed up my kidneys in good shape."

MRS. W. P. MAKER

18 Rose Ave., Sayre

"When I overworked it disordered my kidneys and I suffered from awful pains through the small of my back. It felt as though I had a heavy weight bearing down on the small of my back and my kidneys acted irregularly. I felt out of sorts and lacked energy. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I purchased at Liggett's Co's Drug store, soon had my back free from pain and my kidneys acted regularly."

ALBERT L. MORENO,

Prop. Shoe Repair Shop,

123 Appleton St., Sayre

"I spent 17 months in France and the hardships I endured there left my kidneys in bad shape. I suffered from backaches and could hardly straighten when I got out of bed, due to the terrible pains in the small of my back. My kidneys acted too often and I had to get up at night to pass the secretions which were highly colored. When a relative recommended Doan's Kidney Pills I used them. Doan's cured me of the trouble."

MRS. E. FRECHETTE,

188 Chelmsford St., Sayre

"My kidneys were disordered and I suffered from lame back. I had shooting pains through the small of my back which felt like a knife sticking into me. I could hardly get out of bed. I felt so tired and miserable. My kidneys acted too freely and I was so nervous I could fly. A friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills and I used them. Several boxes of Doan's cured me."

THE CITY ELECTION

One more week and the citizens of Lowell will have to select a new city government for 1922-3. This is a duty to which the citizens should bring their best judgment. Let it be remembered that the voters are to select their servants, the men and women whom they want to conduct the city's business for the next two years. During that time a bad or dishonest man could do a vast amount of harm in an important public office. In the primaries, there were candidates seeking nomination who had no qualifications whatsoever. Most of these were wisely eliminated; and now at the final election the voters are asked to support the men or women who from character and training will give the city the best administration of affairs. That is the duty imposed upon every voter and upon the verdict will depend how our city's business will be conducted for the next two years, whether the taxpayers' money is squandered or spent honestly for the benefit of the people.

If the new city government proves to be inefficient, dishonest, extravagant, turbulent or otherwise open to criticism, the electorate alone will be to blame. From the list of candidates unimpaired, a good city government can be chosen. The list is before you, pick out the most trustworthy, remembering that as a rule these are not the ones who make the most high sounding promises.

NEW USES OF WIRELESS

The time is not far distant when men can sit in their own homes and listen to concerts and other musical events in the capitals of the world. Of late we have been accustomed to so many strange things in the line of inventions that in a measure we have ceased to wonder at the marvelous.

It will be remembered that President Harding recently delivered an address at Arlington in Washington that was sent out broadcast over the country and was plainly audible across the continent in many cities east and west.

It is not so long since we depended upon the stage coach to deliver such messages; but the electric telegraph and the telephone came to annihilate space so far as the transmission of intelligence goes. These inventions have been developed, however, to a marvelous degree. It was the amplifier applied to the telephone that made the president's speech audible perhaps five thousand miles from the point of delivery.

But a few days previously the president had experimented with a wireless telephone by which he had spoken to the heads of twenty-eight governments in the different countries of the world and all simultaneously.

That was a marvelous feat; and it was the forerunner of others still more so. It was an application of the wireless telephone that carried the president's voice around the earth and back in seven seconds, for that was the time the spoken words required to complete the circuit.

Is it not easy in view of this performance to imagine an application of this wireless process by which a family may sit in their own parlor and listen to lectures, concerts and even grand opera in public halls and theatres thousands of miles away? Thus the phonograph, by which the voice of great singers and the performance of instrumental artists may be reproduced at any time or place, will be supplemented by making the performance audible at any point on the earth's surface to which the apparatus may be extended.

With such application of the wireless telephone, we may hear the debates in the legislative halls in all the nations of the earth or converse between any two points on our planet. Truly we are on the eve of a new era in the transmission of the human voice, and all the entrancing rhapsodies of sweet music.

THE IRISH OUTLOOK

All this talk about the difficulty of settling the Irish question is mostly hush! There is no difficulty if the British government insists that Ulster submit to what is reasonable. Ulster has been coddled and petted by the government while plotting rebellion; and she has held the ascendancy in Ireland so long that she very naturally hates to let go.

The Ulster leaders protest against entering an all Ireland parliament on the basis of their numerical strength as compared with the rest of Ireland. They want to maintain a veto power upon the action of any legislative body they might enter and in which the republican party would predominate. To this the rest of Ireland will never agree, and the only direct and just mode of settlement now in sight is to have Ulster enter the all Ireland parliament under guarantees of fair treatment but with the understanding that she will have to submit to the rule of the majority.

The proposed parliament would have no connection with the British parliament so that the representation asked for by Ulster would be abolished. It has been said that Ireland has been offered practically the same form of government as Canada. That is not quite true. There are some important reservations in reference to Ulster. In the detail to be made of her right to have a navy, to divert payments to her and to 22 tariff imposts and some other features.

The question of swearing allegiance between the two former allies who to the king is one that is not likely to be settled until the forces against Germany are defeated. To insist upon it would defeat the settlement which is hoped for on the lines already laid down. Ireland would nominally remain within the empire; but beyond payments which Germany cannot that, she would be self-governing and independent.

We are very confident that Lloyd George will bring Ulster into line for these reasons: first, that offers the only hope of a settlement; second, Ulster before the recent trouble had a majority in favor of the Sinn Féin; and third, all the Unionists in the south and west are very anxious to have Ulster enter the all Ireland parliament. They are represented by Lord Middleton, who says that from the uniformly tolerant and considerate treatment of the unionist minority in the other provinces, he is positive that the Ulster minority would have nothing to fear from the republican majority.

It is announced that Lloyd George will sail for the United States on December 12. He is not likely to carry out that plan unless in the meantime a basis of settling the Irish question is reached. By a little pressure he can control Ulster and he may apply the necessary persuasion before the date set for his sailing for Washington.

H. G. WELLS' PREACHMENTS

It would seem that the American people by this time are tired of the preachments of H. G. Wells on the various aspects of the conference now in session in Washington. He is continually predicting the collapse of European civilization unless the United States joins with Great Britain and France in settling practically all the great issues that have been brought before the conference including the restraint of Japanese imperialism, the protection of China and Eastern Siberia from foreign conquest, and other problems sure to arise out of the general rehabilitation of Europe as he would have it conducted. For this purpose he would abrogate the Anglo-Japanese treaty and would have the United States enter into an alliance with England and France to guarantee the safety of Europe and assume responsibility for the settlement of all the world questions likely to result in war and incidentally to look after the interests of the members of this new triple alliance. Mr. Wells would have us go a step farther than join the League of Nations. He would have the United States take on the chief burden which the League was to assume and let a few other nations become associate members of the new alliance in order that one might make motions and the others second them as to what they wished the United States to do. Mr. Wells is presuming too much upon the philanthropic susceptibilities of the United States. We are not yet prepared to cancel the war loans to Europe, to scrap our navy and then assume responsibility for the rehabilitation of Europe and the peace of Asia. We have domestic problems that will require a large portion of our attention for some years to come.

IMPORTANT DECISION

An important order has been issued by a New York court directing the cloak manufacturers to abide by their agreement with the union. Such a decision is almost unprecedented and if allowed by the higher courts, it will change the industrial relations existing between manufacturers and their organized employees as recognized by the courts in the past. It will inaugurate an era in which employers and employees will both be obliged to keep their pledges to each other as they would a legal contract.

Labor unions have often been indicted for conspiracy because of strikes and alleged violations of alleged agreements; but in no case have individual employers been held responsible when they broke their pledges to an organization of employees. Much interest is, therefore, attached to the decision of the New York court on account of the far-reaching effect it will have if it is sustained by the higher court and becomes an established precedent to be followed in all similar cases in the future.

INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENTS

Only the corporations that pay the premiums and the insurance companies that meet the claims for industrial accidents, realize that the sum of $5,500,000 was paid out for the year ending June 30 for such claims. Under the old system in which the injured recovered only through the courts, the lawyers were the chief earners. But at the same time the present system is far from perfect. The condition that deprives the injured employee of any compensation for the first ten days of his incapacity is open to serious objection on the charge of fairness. It is designed to prevent imposition upon employers by manufacturing a pretense that the injury is more serious than it really is, but in bona fide cases of disability, the injustice is apparent.

Still the present system is greatly to be preferred to the old in which the injured employee, in most cases without funds, was obliged to fight his corporations in the courts.

GERMANY CAN'T PAY

Germany throws up her hands and asks for a moratorium to enable her to put off for a time the next instalment of the reparations indemnity imposed by the allies. Already she has a representative in London negotiating with England with the moratorium in view. This fact has caused France control of her harbors, in the detail to be made of her right to have a navy, to divert payments to her and to 22 tariff imposts and some other features.

Here is another source of friction between the two former allies who to the king is one that is not likely to be settled until the forces against Germany are defeated. To insist upon it would defeat the settlement which is hoped for on the lines already laid down. Ireland would nominally remain within the empire; but beyond payments which Germany cannot meet. That would be a painful measure and would cause great indignation in Germany whose people are willing to pay just as soon as they can. Their supply of raw material for their manufactures has been exhausted and owing to their demoralized currency, they are unable to purchase what they need. It would be wrong to foreclose on them under such conditions. The moratorium will serve the purpose and afford Germany time to get her breath.

MILLS IN CHINA

China in 1900 had two cotton mills, with 65,000 spindles. Now she has more than 65 cotton mills, with more than 1,600,000 spindles. That is typical of the industrial awakening that is going on all through China today.

China, which in another century will be racing with America as the leading world power, is the world's greatest undeveloped market.

Our policy of supporting China for her rights is advisable even if for nothing more than business reasons.

Much of the mill machinery used in China was made in the Saco-Lowell shops in this city.

KILLED ON RAILROADS

The railroads last year killed 6,958 people, reports the Interstate Commerce commission. That seems a lot. But in 1913 the roads killed 10,954, which is the record.

The decrease in fatalities is the result of Safety First campaigns. It again emphasizes that accidents are due to carelessness, that nearly all of them can be avoided by personal caution.

Yes, city hall will be cleared for the new government and then will come the work of filling the offices with men of honesty and fitness for the offices to which they are chosen. This task will call for the exercise of honesty and sound judgment on the part of the mayor and the city council.

Yesterday's announcement that there is to be no further cut in wages in the mills of Fall River in the near future, offers similar assurance to the people of Lowell as this city usually follows Fall River in such matters.

Although it might seem rather paradoxical, it is among the possibilities that out of the Washington conference called to limit armaments might flash a new casus belli.

Already the Christmas shopping season is on and those who take advantage of it thus early will have a better opportunity to get what they want at a reasonable price.

The ballot for the city election will not be too long and it will doubtless be framed in the most simple and most easily countable manner.

If Arbuckle escapes punishment for causing the death of Virginia Rappe, it will be generally regarded as a lamentable miscarriage of justice.

Business is looking upward and the spring will probably see the last of our industrial depression.

Get ready to select the very best candidates on the municipal ballot on December 13.

SEEN AND HEARD

Of course it isn't absolutely necessary to live in a house by the side of the road to be a friend to man.

Charles McFarland of South Bristol, Me., has a cat that likes the company of chickens so much that every night pursues them to their nest. They are the happiest kind of a family.

The management of the Daughters of Israel Home for the Aged, in Newark, N. J., has yielded to the desire of the oldest inmate, 101 years of age, to have her hair bobbed "like the other girls."

Leon Woffenden of Rowe sold his pet lamb, "Becky," several months ago to a farmer. In North Heath, Lamb by nature are seldom domestic, and show little homing instinct, but a few days ago "Becky" surprised Mrs. Woffenden by bounding into the kitchen and using every lambish expression to show her joy at being back home again after trotting through several miles of deep snow between North Heath and Rowe.

Washing the Lecture

In the cook's absence the young mistress of the household, with the help of an inexperienced maid, set the Sunday luncheon. The hurried maid, who had been struggling in the kitchen with a coffee grinder which refused to work, confessed that she had forgotten to wash the lecture. "Well, never mind, Maria," said the considerate mistress. "Go on with the coffee and I'll do it. Where do you keep the soap?"

Half-Headed Eagle

Our national emblem, says Dr. William E. Barton, is the half-headed American eagle. He is a noble bird, proud, beautiful, mighty, king of birds as the lion is king of beasts. He soars with a marvelous grace and power; and when he swoops upon his prey, he is terrible. But America is not the only country that claims the eagle as its own. Russia and Prussia insist that the eagle is theirs. There are not enough noble birds and beasts for the nations that are and have been and are to be. Rome adopted the eagle as its national emblem many centuries ago. That does not give Rome any permanent right to our bird, and the eagle is ours as much as it ever was Rome's. But we have one bird that is our very own, and that is the turkey. That bird grew up over America wherever the Indian corn was cultivated, and that was all the way from New England to Mexico and even farther. When Cortez in 1519 reached the realm of the Aztecs, he was met by Montezuma with royal splendor, and the meal was roast turkey. The Aztecs had already domesticated the fowl. It was plentiful also in its wild state there and north of the Rio Grande. The turkey was taken by the Spaniards first to Spain and then to other Mediterranean countries, and thence to the eastern nations of Europe and the north as well.

On June 27, 1510, when Charles IX of France married Elizabeth of Austria, a turkey imported from the wilds of America graced the feast. The pilgrims of Plymouth had turkeys on the first Thanksgiving day. England made the Christmas goose national

GLIMPSES OF ARMS CONFERENCE AND MODE OF BUSINESS

Little Army of Newspaper Correspondents From All Over the World--Foreign Delegations Astounded at High Officials Meeting Newspaper Workers

Special to The Sun

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 2.—The scenes down at the press room of the session of the Arms conference of the limitation of armament conference tell the story of the great gathering of nations. The team is playing on its home grounds, and though foreign elements are much in the foreground, it is quite evident they are somewhat puzzled over the absolute frankness with which they are received by the American delegates. Such open diplomacy is new to them, and they could scarcely believe their eyes and ears when they found things were actually set apart each day by men of high authority, to talk over the situation with newspaper men from all countries. There is no more secrecy visible at the newspaper conference than at a town meeting in New England. To be sure, the state is carefully prepared behind the scenes, but it is quite evident there is no attempt on the part of the delegates from the United States or other countries, to mix up or hog the newspaper men, no matter what country they represent.

The delegates are now meeting in committees, and discussing in detail some of the most important features of the proposed limitation. Naturally the entire discussion cannot properly be set before the public but it is the purpose of the conference, acting under the advice of Senator Lodge and the American delegates that all possible

MAN ABOUT TOWN

At the present time there are three complete juries ready for call at the superior court. With but three weeks of the first session remaining this is an unusually large number of men. Generally the list slimmers down after the first three weeks to about 30 men. Clerk Roger Howard believes in being prepared for whatever may turn up. Still many of the men like the work and do not mind being away from their callings for 10 or 12 weeks at a time. And they may like the work for it is interesting and an insight is gained on certain matters that would otherwise be unobtainable. Several have made requests that they be retained.

Yesterday I noticed a scissors grinder busily at work on Gorham street. It is a long time since I saw one of these men playing his trade in this city. Years ago a scissors grinder was a common sight. Of late the art, if it may be considered such, has dropped from favor. Business seemed to be pretty good as the worker had several knives and a meat cleaver waiting to be sharpened. As was the case in the olden days an interested group, composed mostly of non-eyed youngsters, stood around watching the operations. And again a man in the case, the youngsters were asking more questions than 10 men could answer. But the grinder kept on working, a smile now and then lighting up his face as some perplexing question was hurled at him.

The drawing for positions on the election ballot, held at city hall yesterday afternoon, showed that the new list, which says that positions must be held by the names of the candidates printed in alphabetical order, averaged out pretty well. In the majority contest, the drawing resulted in placing the two candidates' names in the same order in which they would have appeared in previous elections. In the councilor at large fight, the candidate who would have been first alphabetically is last, while the man who would have been last in other cases is second. The other candidates are mixed indiscriminately. In the ward contests, in six of the nine wards the alphabetical order has been reversed. The candidate who held first position for school committee on the primary ballot will be last in order at the election. The women candidates, most of whom were well toward the top of the primaries are well scattered in the list arranged for the election ballot. The numbering of the names, however, and the decision to place the family name first, will help the average voter greatly in finding his candidates.

and notable; but America has made the turkey international and permanently famous. If we must divide the eagle with Rome and other nations, we have an indefeasible right to the turkey. It will not displace the eagle as an emblem, but it is vastly better than the eagle when served on the Thanksgiving platter.

The Stay-at-Home

The village knew her as a faithful wife. Low-voiced and patient with her husband's ways, busy through all the uneventful days.

With small home duties that made up her life.

She'd married young, a quiet, sober man.

Not one to talk much; satisfied to sit and smoke his pipe of evenings.

His slow thoughts on the little store he ran.

The times were hard the year they married, so.

They took no wedding trip, but waited, till

The years had somehow drifted by, and still

It never seemed to be the time to go.

So they lived together, he and she. The children grew up, married, went away.

Things went along from quiet day to day.

Then she died suddenly.

And when they came to tidy up, they found

Down in the bottom of her box of scraps

A child's geography with colored maps,

A sheet that made a curious murmuring sound.

A steamship guide with pictures crude and blurred

Of white ships sailing by a palm-groved shore—

Java, Sumatra, Bangkok, Siam—

—none.

A strange, bright feather from some foreign bird;

A bit of paper daubed with gilt and red

That once had wrapped a pound of Algerian tat.

A yellowed clipping: "How to Dress at Sea!"

"What queer trash some folks keep around!" they said.

able publicly shall be given the result of those committee conferences. So each day, once in the morning and once in the afternoon, reports of the conference are officially given out to all newspaper correspondents who are accredited representatives down at the press room.

Conference Press Room

Dropping into the press room of the conference to get the latest developments is very much like attempting to pass a sentinel at a camp. Your credential card is your comership. Without it you don't get anywhere; with it you may enter the big building down on the banks of the Potomac, from which is sent out all the official news of the conference to all parts of the world. It's from a big, bare, improvised press room on the ground floor of the so-called New Army and Navy building—erected as a war emergency—that all official reports of the conference are sent out to the newspapers of this country and across the sea. Flung round the room are numberless telephone booths; the walls are covered with bulletins; sitting at desks or plugging away at their typewriters are scores of well known newspaper correspondents and special writers, assigned to "cover" the conference. Messengers flit back and forth carrying copy to and from these men to the big staff of stenographers assigned exclusively to the press service of the conference, and whose companies have established special wires in the long low buildings, which are just across the street from the Pan American building, which is the headquarters of the conference. No one but accredited newspaper writers specifically assigned to cover the conference are admitted to that press room, or permitted to pass the military sentinel stationed at the door.

Here one finds assembled representatives from newspapers of every country on earth. But it is the Chinese and the Japanese that are by far the most interesting. Today I watched a couple of them prepare their copy for the cable. Beginning at the top of a very narrow right hand column of the right page, they worked to the bottom of the column, then began at the next left hand top column and so continued till the whole sheet was covered with what looked like a chop suey dinner card or a laundry bill. When they had completed their news story, written in both Chinese language and Chinese characters, they passed it along to a Chinese correspondent who, while retaining the Chinese language changed it into English characters. In that form it was carried by the waiting messenger to the telegraph men in the adjoining room, who in turn carried it across to China letter by letter, of course not understanding one word of what the message contained.

The Foreign Correspondents

Nearly were groups of French and Italian newspaper men, chattering brightly as they compared notes. A group of Englishmen were studying the bulletins; some correspondents from Australia were writing cables; and around the room lounged several well known writers whose names we often see at the top of "specials." They were trying to absorb the "atmosphere" of the conference and, whose duty it is to grind out genuine news, were trying to form their own opinion of those special writers, as individuals, especially if they came from over the sea. Pretty soon the doors to the corridor opened and in came Lord this of that who had been assigned by the conference to talk to the newspaper men, and give out official news from the committee meetings just across the way. No one is given an exclusive interview, all newspaper men are treated alike, so the widely varying opinions expressed at the conference and its probable results are entirely a matter of personal interpretation of the writers, as all have the same source of information.

When the spokesmen for the conference bows a courteous good day to the correspondents, they rush out of the room on a still hunt for "leaks" that may throw additional light on the situation. It's not so exciting or bewildering as covering a national convention, but there will be plenty of thrills in the minds of the newspaper men, and the results known, and it is disclosed how close they were to the inside workings of the most important international conference ever held in the world.

Men of the highest possible official standing in army and navy circles are in full sympathy with the purpose of the conference and although they are not willing to be quoted for publication, make it known that they have faith that the outcome will be very satisfactory to the American people, and go far towards diminishing the chances of future naval warfare, and at the same time bring about a big reduction of the cost of naval armament.

An Amusing Incident

One of the amusing incidents of the closing scenes of congress was when President Harding was about to leave the capitol after signing the bills passed by the senate at the last moment of the session. The president had been in the president's room, signing bills at a big mahogany table at which has sat every president for the last century, there for the same purpose. Senators of both political parties strolled past the guards at the door, and chatted cordially and informally with the president. Then the time came when the last visitor had departed and the last bill had been signed. Up rose Mr. Harding put on his overcoat, shook hands with the group of newspaper men who were standing in the office, and accompanied by his secretaries and the secret service men, walked to the waiting elevator nearby. At that moment one of the old doorkeepers stepped up to the president and whispered something in his ear, at the same time holding out a one dollar bill. The president laughed like a boy, and said "All right—I'll see if I can match it." Taking a roll of bills from his pocket President Harding carefully peeled off a one dollar bill and exchanged with the old doorkeeper. As the president stepped into the elevator the doorkeeper tucked the presidential bill into his pocket and remarked, "I just wanted a souvenir—and I got it."

Congress Re-convenes

Next Monday will see congress reconvened in session for the winter. The breathing space has been very short, but scarcely a senator or member of congress failed to take advantage of it, for there is no fixed date for adjournment of the coming session. It is likely to last far into the summer in spite of the fact that it will be an election year, and congressmen will be on the alert to enter the campaign.

"Four years ago, when I first learned of 'Fruit-a-tives', I was suffering severely with Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism. I had contracted a bad cold. My back pained all the time, hurting badly when I stooped or attempted to lift anything and my Kidneys would not act.

Beginning the use of 'Fruit-a-tives', which I had read good accounts of in the Montreal French papers, I soon found they were the remedy I required.

In three weeks time, I felt like a new person. However, I kept on with the treatment and was absolutely rid of every symptom of Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism."

If You Like Large, Airy Bedrooms
This Home Should Appeal to You

This is another of the model home plans furnished The Sun by the Curtis Service Bureau, of Clinton, Ia., experts in interior and exterior wood work.
Here is a western type house which is practically square—27.4 wide by 25.4 deep—but which is ingeniously designed to give a low-sitting, hospitable effect. This is done by accentuating the horizontal lines. Notice the gable, with its ridge running horizontally; the shadow cast by the wide eaves; the belt course above the porch roof; the wide porches; the breadth of the grouped windows; and the location of the living porch and entry, opposite each other on each side.
Views Will Aid Looks Color can be introduced to relieve any monotony in the stone wall surface by staining the shingled roof, and painting the window and door frames and porch work. Carefully appropriate design occupy the adjacent rear corners.

Most housewives would find the kitchen entirely satisfactory. Range, work table, sink and dresser are conveniently grouped to economize steps and to get the greatest amount of light where most needed. An inside basement stair close to the rear entry also spares the kitchen floor much tracking. A place is provided for the refrigerator in the small rear entry shown at the left.
The downstairs layout is completed by the den, at the front, on the left of the living room. Bookcases and a built-in seat surround the front casement.

Bright Bedrooms
The upstairs has three bedrooms, all light and airy. In each there is plenty of unbroken wall space, so that the bed does not have to be in the cross-current of air. There is a generous closet in each, and one of them also is provided with a built-in chest of drawers. It is enclosed behind a regular interior door. A similar arrangement in the hall takes care of the household linen.
The bathroom, just at the head of the stairs, has a built-in tub. The room is amply ventilated by a pair of casement windows. In the interior of such a house, woodwork and built-in features of the simplest lines are most appropriate. This applies equally to the movable furnishings. Any desired finish may be used, because the architectural type of the house is strictly modern American.

THE AFFAIRS OF JANE

PELLETIER AND COAKLEY CASES

Supreme Court to Consider Coakley's Petition for Trial by Jury

Also Allen's Request That Disbarment Petitions Be Heard by Full Court

BOSTON, Dec. 2.—The supreme court today took under consideration the motion of Daniel Coakley that he be tried by a jury on the attorney general's petition for his disbarment, and also a motion by Attorney General J. Weston Allen that the petitions for disbarment by Mr. Coakley and of District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier be heard by the full court instead of by a single justice.

Judge DeCourcy in commenting on the Coakley motion, said he had never known of a jury trial in a case other than those expressly provided by statute. As to the attorney general's motion, he remarked that his first impression was decided against transferring the disbarment petitions to the full bench.

Mr. Coakley contended that none of the justices of the supreme court could hear the petition against him without bias because of the decision which the court rendered in removing Nathan A. Tufts as district attorney of Middlesex county. He had found in the Tufts decision, he said, several references to him which inferentially he considered libelous. Andrew Marshall, one of the attorneys designated by the attorney general to prosecute the Coakley charges, said it was for "this court to pass upon the conduct of Mr. Coakley, which, if it was as charged, amounts to a career of rascality and fraud."

"None but the distorted minds of the people who are running that machine would make such a suggestion," was Mr. Coakley's retort. He charged that the case was one of "disgraceful low-down politics" in which the supreme court was being dragged into the political arena.

DISMISS CLAIMS OF FISHING VESSELS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—The American and British claims tribunal today dismissed the cases of the Argonaut and Col. Jonas French, two Brewster, Mass., fishing vessels, which alleged wrongful seizure of some small boats and seines while engaged in fishing off Prince Edward Island, in 1887. The action was taken on the ground that the seizure occurred within the territorial water of Canada and was not a question of international law to be decided by the tribunal.

TO ERECT $3,000,000 EXCHANGE BUILDING

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Members of the New York cotton exchange today voted to erect a $3,000,000 exchange building on the site of the present structure at Beaver and Williams streets. Work will commence next May.

CANDIDATES DRAW FOR PLACE ON BALLOT

The drawing for positions on the ballot at the city election took place yesterday afternoon, with a number of the candidates present. All had been notified that the drawing was to take place at the specified hour, in the aldermanic chamber at city hall, but many did not see fit to present themselves, in order that they might witness the proceedings.

The drawing was conducted in the same manner as for the primaries. The names of the candidates for the various offices were placed in a jury box and drawn out one by one by Miss Mary Mahoney, a clerk in the commission's office. Chairman McGowan announced the result of each drawing and Clerk Alford was recorder. The other commissioners, Messrs. Maguire and Braden, were lookers-on. The drawing resulted as follows:

FOR MAYOR
George H. Brown.
Perry D. Thompson.

COUNCILOR AT LARGE
Lucius A. Derby.
John A. Weinbeck.
Edward M. Appleton.
John J. McFadden.
Albert Bergeron.
James J. Gullacher.

James H. Riley.

After the drawing the commission announced that the numbering of the names on the ballot was being considered, since many of the candidates at the primaries told their friends their number on the ballot. This, it is done, will assist the voters materially. It is thought, Mr. James J. Gallagher, candidate for councilor at large, suggested placing the candidates' family names first on the ballot, with their given names following, the same as in the directory and telephone directory. The commissioners thought it a very timely suggestion, and promised favorable action.

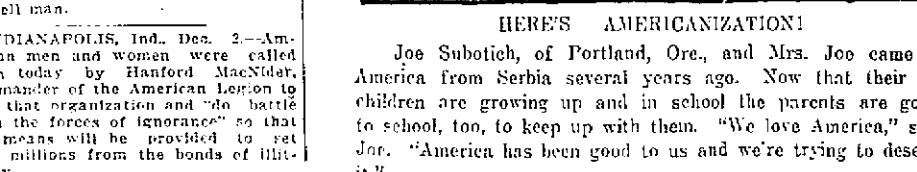

The commissioners finally adjourned to their office in the basement to decide the hours for opening and closing the polls. They decided in favor of the hours which have been set at previous election this year, from 5 a. m. until 6 p. m.

The new charter states definitely what the commission may do in regard to voting hours. It provides that the polls may open as early as 5 a. m. and not earlier, and shall remain open at least six hours; the polls shall not remain open later than 6 p. m.

This gives the commissioners an opportunity to keep the polls open 14 hours if they wish, but the members favor the hours that have become practically established, six in the morning until six at night. Next year, with a prospective increase in the number of precincts, and a reduction in the size of the check lists in the larger precincts, there is an encouraging prospect of returning to the old voting elections this year, from 6 a. m. until 4 p. m.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

DEPORTATIONS READ IN SUIT AGAINST R. R.

CONCORD, N. H., Dec. 2.—Depositions of Harold G. Kelley, now president of the Grand Trunk railway of Canada, and Sir Alfred W. Smithers of London, Eng., of the Grand Trunk board, were read today in the suit of Paul F. Fitzhugh against the Grand Trunk railway, the Central Vermont railway and others. The depositions had largely to do with estimated costs of construction of the proposed Southern New England railroad from Palmer, Mass., to Providence, R. I. Mr. Kelley was an engineer with the Central Vermont railroad at the time the Southern New England was projected. The first cost estimate was about $5,000,000, but this was later reduced in the neighborhood of $2,000,000. Counsel for the defense registered exceptions to the admission of the depositions. The long cross-examination of Mr. Fitzhugh was ended Thursday afternoon and after a brief redirect examination by his own counsel today he was excused from the stand. A severe cold made his answers to questions at times almost inaudible.

BRIEF BUT IMPORTANT WIRE DESPATCHES

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 2.—Nicolia Carrella, who shot and killed James Ruffano in a local saloon last December in a quarrel over a woman, was today sentenced to 15 years in state prison at hard labor.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Dec. 2.—Obstructions in the form of ties placed on the tracks of the Shore line division of the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R. at Chalkers bridge, two miles west of Saybrook Junction, during last night are thought by railroad men to have been an attempt to wreck trains. At 2:15 a. m. three cross-ties were found on the tracks, two of them having been laid across the east-bound track while the third tie was laid lengthwise to hold the others in place.

Quarter Century Ago

In the old Sun Mr. J. W. Fletcher of New York, formerly of Lowell, writing of dramatic art said:
"Formerly, that is in the good old times, when a witness is lost in the mist of years ago, there was a certain good, it was difficult for a stranger to pass the evening pleasantly, if alone in any of the numerous New England cities. Now most certainly Lowell at least, is to be congratulated upon the variety of amusements furnished, and especially upon the character of the entertainment themselves."

"In New York city, for instance, we have two stock companies, the Lyceum and the Empire and these are splendidly supported; but they wander from one large city to another half the year, leaving the other numerous places to comic opera and other forms of buffoonery. The ordinary New Yorker does not like to think of a season or better his mind in the least after the day's work is done. He wants to forget as far as possible his cares and worries and the ever-present bother of change and therefore, for his special delectation, a highly seasoned dish is served up, beginning with a 'Florida Enchantment,' where by magic, women are changed into men and vice versa, and ending with the Parisian ball at Hammerstein's Olympia. It is all senseless enough and would be better tolerated by overworked brains and over-taxed nerves."

"The drama in its true life finds small support at the hands of the Metropolitan theatres. Modjeska truly said, 'There is little real love or appreciation for the dramatic art in New York.' To be sure Irving, Bernhardt and the grand opera draw; but these are all upon accepted lines, and to be seen. At the Opera, for instance, a constant chatter mars the most seductive and artistic work of Emma or De Reske. In the less heated atmosphere of a more quiet life all is vastly different. Here, for instance, the highest enjoyment is found in being able to think and enjoy at the same time, to follow intelligently through the many complications that the most simple lives present, the thread of the story, the development of the emotions, and to watch with interest the final climax as well as to get a different view of life from that which we see in our daily contact with the world. The stock company at the Savoy on Shattuck street is a credit to its managers and the city itself. I have rarely seen a better balanced, more intelligent company of ladies and gentlemen."

Mr. Fletcher was a son of the late Marcellus H. Fletcher of Lowell and an authority on things musical and dramatic. It is worthy of note that Lowell has had practically ever since, a stock company to present high class plays. The one referred to at the Savoy was conducted by Kendall Weston. The plays now presented at the Opera House by the local stock company are fully up to the standard of those produced at the Savoy and of which Mr. Fletcher spoke in terms of praise.

Mr. Drury's Good Memory
Says the old Sun:
"Hon. John B. Drury is gifted with an excellent memory. He is good at remembering faces and names. At city hall yesterday I saw him approach a man and say, 'Did you not work in the Lowell Machine shop in 1866?' 'I did,' answered the old gentleman. Then Mr. Drury went on to inquire about many of the old hands who worked there at the time and of whom he had lost track during the past 15 or 20 years. The old gentleman with whom he was talking he had not seen for 25 years."

Murder and Suicide
Quarter of a century ago, Lowell was shocked by the sad murder and suicide, as recorded in the following from the old Sun. The murderer had been drinking and was evidently deranged when he committed the crime:
"A murder and suicide is Lowell's Thanksgiving contribution to criminal annals this year for the day had not yet dawned when Francois Cote, a barber, fired three shots at his sleeping wife and then completed his awful work by killing himself. The scene of the crime was in Vigan's block at the corner of Cabot and Moody streets, where for some time past Mr. and Mrs. Cote have resided comfortably though not altogether happily."

Firemen's Ball
Says the old Sun:
"Thanksgiving eve is the one night in the year, the firemen claim. Then it is that the blue coated and silver buttoned firefighters, want no ruder alarm to call them from the enjoyment of torporous pleasure. And the only sound they heard Wednesday night was the loud clang of the bell summoning them to the merry dance at Huntington hall. The officers were: General manager, Pres. E. S. Hosmer; floor director, Theo. J. E. Norton; aides, C. F. Foley; Henry Boynton, O. A. Knapp, J. H. Joyce, W. F. Dolan, E. F. Saunders, Chas. Kelly, B. J. Dunn, G. H. Chapman, J. J. McCafferty, J. J. Doherty, J. J. Donohue, H. A. Merrill, A. I. Laughton, E. Lepine, J. F. Mc-

Kissock. Committee on arrangements: President E. S. Hosmer, Treasurer J. E. Norton, Secretary Charles Stackpole, W. A. Dolan, Capt. S. E. Bartlett, J. F. McKissock."

Lowell Council R. A.
From the old Sun:
"Last night Lowell council, No. 8, R. A., elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Regent, J. S. Thompson; vice regent, A. H. Stanley; orator, F. H. Martin; past regent, F. A. Boyer; secretary, E. A. Wilcox; collector, W. F. Sanborn; treasurer, G. E. King; chaplain, F. X. A. Hurtubise; guide, E. L. Bateman; warden, F. W. Stanley; sentry, C. H. Woods."

Lowell Homing Club
The Lowell Homing club has conducted contests for homing pigeons for many years. Twenty-five years ago Messrs. Youngbloods, Dyar, McKinley and Murphy conducted a contest between Lowell and Concord, Mass. Mr. Youngblood's bird won in 35 1-2 minutes.

Twenty-five years ago Patrolman Thomas F. Coleman was publicly commended for the arrest of a burglar who entered the house of Edward R. Chasing, Patrolman James Boyle was also commended on the same occasion for the arrest of a clothing thief. It may be mentioned that Mr. Coleman retired from the force a short time ago, but Officer Boyle is still on duty.

H. MILLER
H. Miller at 23 Ware street is a painter and paperhanger. He carries nothing but the best of paints and paper and his work is excellent. Have him give you estimates on your next job. Mr. Miller says there is no job too far for him to undertake and all his work is guaranteed.

TALBOT DYEWOOD & CHEMICAL CO.
Chemicals of all descriptions can be purchased at the Talbot Dyewood and Chemical Co. at 40 Middle street. This company is local agent for the famous Talco, the aromatic disinfectant and deodorizer, which is recognized as being a very powerful germicide.

J. B. COVER & CO.
Do not let the snow interfere with the laying of your hens. Feed them the Perfect Scratch and Mash feeds and you will find that they will keep you well supplied with eggs. This feed is known to be one of the best egg producers on the market. It is for sale at the grain store of J. B. Cover & Co., 160 Middle street.

SONG THINGS LIGHT
REASONABLE, Eng., Dec. 2.—When the lights failed during the services at the Congregational church here, Dr. Harrison, the pastor, asked the congregation to sing "Lead Kindly Light." Then the lights went up.

PARIS HORNS MUFFLED
PARIS, Dec. 3.—Loud horns on taxicabs have been declared illegal here and proceedings are being taken against their users. That's part of the campaign to reduce Paris noises.

Nova Scotia has salt beds covering an area of 40 square miles.

Being Made at the Postoffice

Instructions as to Proper Method of Preparing Holiday Mail Matter

Preparations for the Christmas mail rush are being made at the Lowell postoffice under the direction of Postmaster Meahan and his widespread corps of department aids all down the line. "Extras" are to be provided when the big "swamp" comes, but just at present the program is merely being outlined and everything made ready for the tremendous jam and rush that never fails to start when the Christmas wreaths begin to appear in the windows and folks start in remembering friends out of town.

Postmaster Meahan is very anxious to have the deliveries (as well as the mailings) go along on time this year, and anything he can do to assist people in answering questions and disposing of mailing problems, is to be done as always.

Postmaster Meahan is anxious to have the public fully instructed as to the proper method of preparing holiday mail matter so that it can be handled and delivered safely. He has given "The Sun" an interesting lot of matter covering the December work, and here it is with a few additions and explanations added to cover the situation thoroughly.

Parcels containing articles that are easily broken such as cameras, chinaware, clocks, crockery, delicate mechanism, dolls, flowers, fountain pens, glass, hats, jewelry and jewel cases, millinery, musical instruments, paintings, toys of a fragile nature, wax articles, etc., should be marked "fragile." The merchandise should be packed to fit the container in a snug manner, to prevent the article from moving about in the container.

Shoes should be packed in a double-faced corrugated box or other container of equally strong material. The ordinary shoe box is not strong enough. Clothing and dry goods should be placed in boxes and heavily wrapped; strong twine should always be used in wrapping.

In every case the sender's name and address should appear in the upper left hand corner, preceded by the word "from." All valuable articles should be insured. If the address is placed on a tag which is tied to the bundle, be sure the address is also on the bundle, as in many cases tags become detached in handling and packages may be lost or delayed in delivery beyond the Christmas period. In all cases of doubt, rewrap, and make sure the package is properly secured. The postmaster advises patrons to mail packages for Canada as early as possible. The postoffice does not like to handle tiny envelopes or tiny packages. In all cases cards and envelopes should not be below 2 1/2 x 3 1/2 inches in size, because of the following reasons:

Addresses will be obliterated by cancellation stamps; too small to be run through the facing table, necessitating three handlings with consequent delay not only to the sender but other mail; delay in cancellation because of awkwardness in putting through cancelling machines; delayed through difficulty in sorting; liability to loss or damage as small sizes do not fit letter packages and cannot be tied securely.

The co-operation of Lowell patrons will be greatly appreciated by Postmaster Meahan and his fine corps of workers at the local office if they will give particular attention to the phase of the postal service, as it will enable the postal authorities to handle the mail which is received more expeditiously.

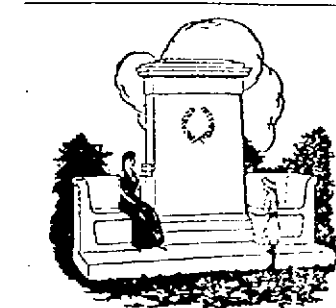

A word to the really wise is always sufficient.

Folks, go to it!

WILL RAISE FUND TO BUY HOME

The Ascension society, a local humanitarian organization specializing in social work among all creeds and classes in Lowell has contracted for the purchase of the old Glover house at 48 Lawrence street. An attempt will be made to raise $15,000 to finance the venture. Already several large department stores have promised aid and it is expected the manufacturers will contribute for it is among their employees the society works.

The officers are: President, Ida M. Hutchinson; O. G. O. directors, Mrs. Amelia Shaw and Mrs. Peter Berens; and Miss Alice Dallaire.

Plan for Employees

In recognition of the long and faithful service of some of the employees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company, the public trustees of the company have adopted a pension plan, which will become effective Jan. 1, 1922, and all employees of the company, whether conductors, motormen, innemen, machinists or laborers, will be eligible to the pension, the entire expense to be paid by the company.

Notices of the pension system were distributed to all the local employees of the company yesterday. According to the plans of the trustees eligibility for a pension will be determined by the age of each employee and the years of continuous service. The company of any of its predecessors. Employees who have been in the service of the company 25 years or more, and who have reached the age of 60, will be retired on Jan. 1, 1922, and they will then become entitled to a pension.

The trustees have also provided retirement for all employees upon reaching the age of 65 after twenty-five years of service. These men will be automatically retired as soon as they are eligible. For the purpose of determining rules and regulations and administering the pension plan, the public trustees have appointed the following pension board: Robert J. Bean, car operator, Quincy; Fred R. Howard, general foreman, Brockton; Charles W. McNeill, track foreman, Salem; Frank J. Murphy, car operator, Lynn; Fred J. Crowley, public trustee, Lowell; C. C. Burno, car operator, Haverhill; and it is stated, also present and general manager, in order to take care of special cases this board in its discretion may retire with pension any employee 65 or more years old, who has been in the service of the company 20 years. No provision has been made for disability pension, but particular instances may arise, meriting consideration and action and this is left entirely in the hands of the pension board.

Pension payments will be based upon the following schedule: For 20 years of service, $35 per month or $420 per year. For each additional year there will be added $11 per month or $132 per year, so that the pension will be, for example, for 25 years of continuous service, $46 per month or $552 per year; for 30 years, $57 per month or $684 per year; for 35 years, $68 per month or $816 per year; for 40 years, $79 per month or $948 per year; for 45 years, $90 per month or $1,080 per year; for 50 years, $101 per month or $1,212 per year; for 55 years, $112 per month or $1,344 per year; for 60 years, $123 per month or $1,476 per year.

Superintendent of the local division, stating that although many of the several local employees who have been in the employ of the company for over 25 years, he does not believe any of them have reached the required age for the pension. The two oldest in point of service on the local division are Patrick Hammerley, who entered the employ of the company in 1854, and Frank Bourke, who has been with the company since April 1, 1856, but it is not believed they have yet reached the age of 70.

Mark

South Chelmsford lost a venerable and greatly esteemed resident yesterday when Mrs. Rhoda Penniman passed away after a short illness at the Robin Hill home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Minnie Penniman Brown. The nonagenarian would have been 98 years old next Monday had she lived. Notwithstanding her great age, Mrs. Penniman, who was beloved by all the townspeople of Chelmsford and vicinity, retained most of her faculties until the end. She was a woman of pleasant disposition, loyal to her friends and proud of the town in which she lived for so many years.

Mrs. Penniman was born in Canterbury, N. H., the daughter of the late Robert and Polly Chase, and was the last member of a family of 10 children. Her sister died to be 93 years and seven months old. Her husband died 15 years ago, and one son about six years ago.

Mrs. Penniman had been a resident of Chelmsford more than 40 years. She was a member of the Paige Street Baptist church of Lowell for many years and always active in the social and religious life of that society.

The funeral services will be held at the home on Robin Hill road, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Friends are invited to attend. Burial in Edison cemetery will be private.

OLIVER PLUNKETT COUNCIL

The committee, appointed by the Oliver Plunkett Council, A.A.R.L.R., to arrange for a postponed meeting next Monday evening met last evening and provided for an entertainment program including vocal and instrumental music. President McInerney stated that in view of the present crisis in Ireland all the members should be on hand at the meeting Monday evening to start the membership drive in which this council is planning to outdo all the other local councils.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT ABOUT TO MARRY 17TH HUSBAND

Old Larceny Charge is Dismissed—Court Rules Case Too Ancient

Federal Agents Arrive Just in Time to Prevent Another "Marriage"

Can't Remember Husbands'
Names—Collected $500 a Month in Aliments

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—Federal agents broke up Mrs. Helen Drexler's matrimonial government allotment plan just as she was making plans to marry her 17th husband in three years, according to her story today to Captain Thomas L. Porter of the secret service. By listing as the son of each husband, the little boy born from her second experience in matrimony, she added $5 a month extra to the flood of allotment checks she received from the government, she said. Federal officials calculated she had received $500 a month.

"I was working in Boston when I met Wilfred Taylor," she related. "The draft got him and soon after landing in France, he was killed." Mrs. Drexler's brother also was killed in action overseas. Her little boy is Wilfred Taylor's son.

"I had to go to work or get married, so I got married. Several months afterward my husband joined the navy, so I got two allotment checks. John Kelly of the Brooklyn navy yard was the next. I left him and married another sailor."

"Dear me! I can't remember all the names. Finally I came to Chicago and married three sailors in quick succession. Albert Drexler, a Camp Grant soldier was the 16th. I had a sailor picked out for the next, but your agents arrested me."

The justice wanted to know why he hadn't brought action, either criminal or civil, against her. For, but the plaintiff could not give a satisfactory answer. Despite the arguments of counsel the court stated he felt that action should have been taken during the time Lazarens was in the city after repeated efforts by Peter to collect or receive back the money he had proven futile. In a comment on the case the justice remarked that the court was not a "collecting agency."

ULSTER TO BLAME IF WAR COMES

Henderson Denounces Ulster's Attitude in Irish Peace Negotiations

Sinn Fein Made Concessions But Ulster Refused to Move an Inch

British Labor Head Declares Nothing Can Justify Resumption of War

LONDON, Dec. 3.—Ulster's attitude in the Irish peace negotiations was attacked by Arthur Henderson, secretary of the labor party, in an address yesterday, opening a fair organized by London laborites. He said the Sinn Fein had made concessions, but that Ulster had refused to move an inch, taking shelter under the pledge of Premier Lloyd George that he would not coerce Ulster.

"The door for peace," he declared, "was not open wide enough because Ulster prevented it. Are we to have another war because Ulster is unresponsive to the call of common sacrifice? Is there to be no peace except on Ulster's terms? If Ulster enters a wild dream that the British people will allow Sinn Fein Ireland to be dragged because Ulster wants its own particular form of settlement, they are only deluding themselves. Labor will oppose any such weakness."

He said he hoped nothing would be done to break off negotiations or terminate the truce. Nothing, he said, could justify a resumption of hostilities.

FOUND DEAD ON STREET

Autopsy on Body of Dr. Elizabeth Radom, Physician and Surgeon, at Bridgeport

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Dec. 3.—Dr. Elizabeth Lillian Radom, 30, physician and surgeon, was found dead this morning on the Fenfield road, Fairfield. An autopsy is being held by Medical Examiner Donaldson of Fairfield.

The body lay on the grass on the edge of the sidewalk. No marks of violence were noted. The clothing was not disarranged, and indications were that the body had not been exposed to last night's rain.

The last seen of Dr. Radom alive was at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon when she was going to visit a patient. She also gave the telephone number of a friend, whom she expected to visit. She never called upon this friend, it was learned today. Dr. Radom was unmarried. Her mother, Dr. Elizabeth Radom, lives in Hartford.

Committed Suicide
Medical Examiner Donaldson after an examination of the body at the morgue here, announced his belief that Dr. Radom had committed suicide by taking an overdose of drugs.

MUNICIPAL CAMPAIGN NOW ON IN EARNEST FOR ALL OFFICES

Mayoralty Candidates Have Not Yet Resumed Outdoor Rallies—Names of Candidates Numbered on Ballot—The Various Contests for Councilor and School Committee

Although but ten days remain before the city election, the campaign is still surprisingly quiet. Even the mayoralty candidates have not taken the stump yet, although it has been predicted since the primaries that the fight would be an exceedingly warm one.

There are several good speakers among the candidates for councilor and school committee, but they, too, are proceeding very quietly. During the next few days, however, there may be a decided change of tactics, and those who are keen for outdoor rallies may not be disappointed, after all.

Numbering Candidates on Ballot
The numbering of the candidates and the placing of their family names first, as on the voting lists, will be a great boon to those who draw positions near the end in the councilor at large and school committee groups.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE IS DISMISSED

A charge of manslaughter preferred against James A. Cudworth, Jr., of Viola street, following the death of five-year-old Arthur Cashin, of Highland avenue, who was struck by an automobile driven by the defendant on Oct. 23 on Chelmsford street near Crescent, was dismissed by Judge Enright in district court today. ALCOHOL SHIPPED BY PARCEL POST

BOSTON, Dec. 3.—The federal grand jury indicted Nicholas H. Dyer, a registered chemist and alleged originator in New England of a scheme to beat the volstead act by shipping alcohol to customers by parcel post. He was charged with mailing a bottle of alcohol to a Cambridge resident.

It was alleged that Dyer would mail packages of spirits to a number of persons, trusting to chance that they would accept them and pay for the more or less welcome contents.

SENTENCES GIRLS TO SPEND 24 HOURS IN MEDITATION AND PRAYER

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Dec. 3.—Two girls arrested for shoplifting today were serving a sentence of "24 hours' meditation and prayer," ordered by Police Court Justice Shove.

"Spend 24 hours in meditation and prayer," said the judge. "Search your consciences and bare your faults before your eyes. Then let me know you are sorry—not that you were caught, but because you stole."

TO START BIG CLEANUP DRIVE TOMORROW

The entire force of the park department, augmented by more than twenty teams and 100 men from the health department, will start work tomorrow morning in an effort to hurry along the removal of debris in the streets and parks accumulated as a result of the recent storm.

This action was taken after a conference between Superintendent of Parks John W. Kennan and Mayor Perry D. Thompson. They agreed that an unexpected cold spell would greatly hamper the park department's work, and decided to combine their efforts.

The teams which will be used are the 24 regular double teams of the health department, and the additional force of workers will be recruited from the regular help of this department and the special police officers.

Electric Light Customers

Weather conditions during the past two days did not prevent the expert line crews from accomplishing a substantial amount of work, and in several sections of Lowell electric lighting service was restored on main circuits.

Particular attention is called to the fact that every effort is being made to systematically restore service beginning from our generating plant and working outward on the circuits, and we are attempting to restore all the electric service in the area thus covered by the several crews of workmen.

Any other method of procedure such as attempting to restore individual services in different sections of the city would result in confusion and indefinite loss of time and most serious delay.

Customers who have not already received electric service in Lowell will be reached as soon as it is possible by the expert line crews who are so valiantly working under emergency conditions; and with favorable weather, service will be restored with all the expediency at our command.

Some homes will have electric service restored while others in the same neighborhood will find further delay before their electric service can be supplied, due primarily to different streets being served by different circuits, also due to more serious damage at one point than at another, or due to extraordinary damage in one particular section of one circuit.

Please remember the weather almost wholly governs the speed we will be able to make in restoring electric service and each stormy day will delay progress perhaps more than for that particular day.

Should good weather continue, and with continuing loyalty of the entire expert line crews, definite progress will be made in Lowell from day to day that will restore a substantial amount of electric service during the coming week.

Five Prescott Street Stores Were Broken Into Last Night—Safe Robbery at Normal School

A safe in the State Normal school on Broadway was pried open and its contents, about $60 in cash, stolen and five business places on Prescott street were entered some time last night or early this morning. Today the police inaugurated a sweeping investigation which they hope will result in the apprehension of the alleged culprits. Although the authorities link the Prescott street burglaries with the same perpetrators, they are certain the Normal school job was committed by other persons and are led to believe those responsible for this break and robbery are connected with a gang of similar thieves who have been reported at work in schools of cities and towns throughout the state.

The Prescott street jobs are believed by the police and by the owners of the stores and offices entered to have been the work of boys. Nothing of great value was taken in any of the five places although each had been thoroughly ransacked. Entrance to these business places was in some cases obtained by rear windows, the miscreants first breaking the glass and then unfastening the lock.

The places entered were the Bay State Steam Dye Works at number 51, the Grand Union Tea company at 53, the Goodwin Furniture company at 55, the Standard Supply Clothing company at 72, and the Robertson Furniture company at 75 to 82. Although there was much valuable stock in all the above firms nothing of substantial value was touched, and for that reason the police and the managers are of the opinion the work was that of boys.

The store of the May State dye works was thoroughly ransacked, the manager reported this morning, but no clothing was missed. A small amount of money, the exact sum could not be determined, was taken from the drawer, it was stated. A rear window of the store was broken, evidently by a throw which the culprits gained entrance.

CHAS. W. MORSE'S PLEA DENIED
Atty. Gen. Daugherty Directs Financier to Sail for U. S. on Monday

Morse Sent Cable Asking Permission to Delay Departure Till Jan. 5
WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Charles W. Morse, shipbuilder and financier, who arrived yesterday at Havre, was directed by Attorney General Daugherty today to sail Monday from Havre, back to the United States.

The attorney general at the same time sent a cablegram to the American embassy at Paris requesting that steps be taken to bring about the return of Morse on the steamer Paris sailing from Havre Monday.

Morse Wants More Time
HAVRE, Dec. 3.—(By the Associated Press)—Charles W. Morse, American financier, cabled Attorney General Daugherty this morning asking permission to delay his departure for the United States until the sailing of the steamship George Washington, on Jan. 5.

Mr. Morse was detained by the French authorities on his arrival here yesterday morning at the request of the American consulate. It was stated that his presence in Washington was desired in connection with investigation of his transactions with the United States shipping board.

French Ministry Bars Morse
PARIS, Dec. 3.—(By the Associated Press)—The French ministry of the interior today issued an order denying Charles W. Morse the right to land in France, and requiring him to return to the United States on the first available steamer, which would be the Paris, sailing Monday from Havre.

Issuance of this order was contained in a letter from the French foreign office to the American embassy this morning. The interior department has the right to refuse entry to any foreigner whom it judges undesirable.

ARBUCKLE JURY IS STILL OUT

Rumors Current Last Night That Jury Stood 11 to 1 for Acquittal

Throng Packed Courtroom and Corridors in Hope of Hearing Verdict

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—The jury considering the evidence submitted in the trial of Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rapps, returned to the jury room from its hotel at 10 o'clock this morning.

The jury appeared refreshed after a night's rest which began at 1 o'clock last night after it had failed to agree on a verdict in four and one quarter hours' deliberations. Reports that it was divided 11 to 1 for acquittal persisted today but there was no indication to give any great amount of tangibility to his report. Corridor gossip said that one woman was holding out for conviction.

Arbuckle appeared a few minutes before 10 o'clock wearing a thick black overcoat. He did not have the slightest look that he carried away with him last night. He chatted with newspapermen and others in an apparently carefree manner.

PERFECT PACKAGE MONTH CLOSES

"Perfect Package" month in Lowell ended Nov. 30, and a report was forwarded to the chamber of commerce this morning by Freight Agent F. M. Morgan, who said:

"I am forwarding the complete report of packages received here for shipment since Nov. 1. The number of packages received for the week ending Nov. 28 was 726. There were no imperfections noted. For the month of November, the total packages received was 8,592, with 5 imperfections."

The chamber officials believe this to be a record-breaker and are assured by freight agents in this vicinity that the "Perfect Package" campaign has accomplished real results.

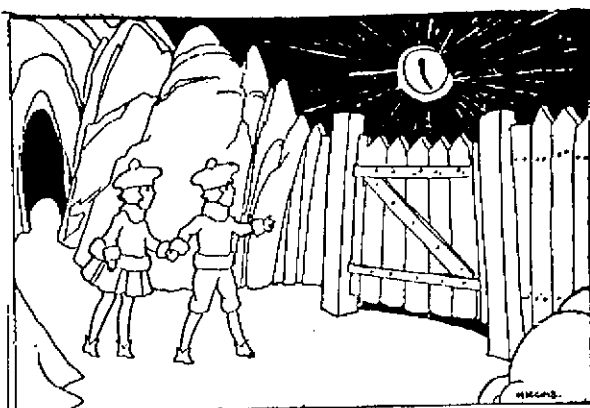

SMALL FIRES
The alarm from box 62 at 9.22 o'clock this morning was for a slight blaze in the tailor establishment at 102 Lakeview avenue. At 7.35 o'clock last evening an alarm was sent in from box 16 for a slight blaze in shavings in the boiler room of the Haten Auto company in Mt. Vernon street. At 10.4 o'clock last evening an alarm was sounded from box 123 for a blaze on a telegraph pole at the corner of Ensign and Merrimack streets, which was caused by a short circuit in the electric wire.

IS STILL UNCONSCIOUS
A man believed to be Joseph Donahue of Stratham street, is reported still in an unconscious condition at St. John's hospital where he was removed shortly after midnight from Gorham street near the postoffice where he had fallen to the sidewalk. The police today located a woman who told the authorities she saw the man fall and strike his head on the curb. It is feared at the hospital he is suffering from a fracture of the skull.

Cabinet Session Held
HOLYHEAD, England, Dec. 3.—(By the Associated Press)—Pears that the crucial Sinn Fein cabinet conference in Dublin today would be delayed owing to the accident in which the steamer Cambria, with three members of the Sinn Fein delegation on board, was involved early today, were disappointed when it was found possible to transfer the Cambria's passengers to another steamer. This vessel left immediately for Ireland. The Irish envoys will therefore arrive in Ireland this forenoon.

Adventures of the Twins

"INSIDE THE GATE"

IN FRONT OF THEM STOOD A HIGH GATE LIGHTED BY A GREAT CAT'S EYE WHICH GLEAMED IN THE DARKNESS.

At last the twins reached the other end of the secret passage which led from Brownland to the gnome village. In front of them stood a high gate lighted by a great cat's eye which gleamed in the darkness. There were no glow worms or fire flies in the passage and no crystals hanging from the ceiling like there were in Mr. Pin's domain.

"Who are you and what do you want?" asked a voice.

The voice seemed to come from the cat's eye, but as the eye had no cat belonging to it seemingly, and not even another eye to match it, as most eyes have, it wasn't likely that it could be a cat. All the eye could do was to gleam and stare as though it were a giant's eye. The twins stepped forward and Nick answered politely and they were spoken to, no matter if it was only a voice that spoke to them and nothing or no one else at all!

And of course they were not afraid. They never, never, never, were that. "We're the twins," answered Nick for both of them, "and we've come after Kip. Do you know if he is within?" Being in Fairyland it sounded far more fairy like to say "within" than just plain, ordinary, everyday "inside."

"Kip," exclaimed the voice in surprise. "So you're after Kip? But there! What do I care whether you are after Kip or not? Do you know how to play 'truth'?"

"Y-un h'm," nodded Nancy, almost but not quite forgetting Pin's warning about saying "yes."

"Well, then, come inside and we shall have a game," went on the voice, and out of the shadow and opened the gate.

Lynn Shoe Workers to Investigate Wages

LYNN, Dec. 3.—The Joint Council of the United Shoe Workers in a letter to the Shoe Manufacturers' association today announced that it had appointed a committee of "inquiry and adjustment" to investigate wages, hours and working conditions in the local shoe industry. The committee consists of five delegates from the council and the business agent of each of the 10 constituent unions. The investigation was decided upon, union officials said, as the result of differences between the union and the Manufacturers' association over the latter's proposal for immediate abolition of the 20 per cent wage bonus. The manufacturers refused to agree to a proposal by the unions that a board of arbitration examine factory books in a proposed investigation.

Former Postmaster of Springfield Dead

PITTSFIELD, Dec. 3.—Edward T. Scully, for five years postmaster of Pittsfield and who completed his duties Sept. 1 last, died early this morning. He was 54 years of age, married and a graduate of Williams college and the Columbia law school of Washington. He was a member of the Berkshire Bar and had served as secretary of the Berkshire Bar association. He was at one time chairman of the planning board of Pittsfield.

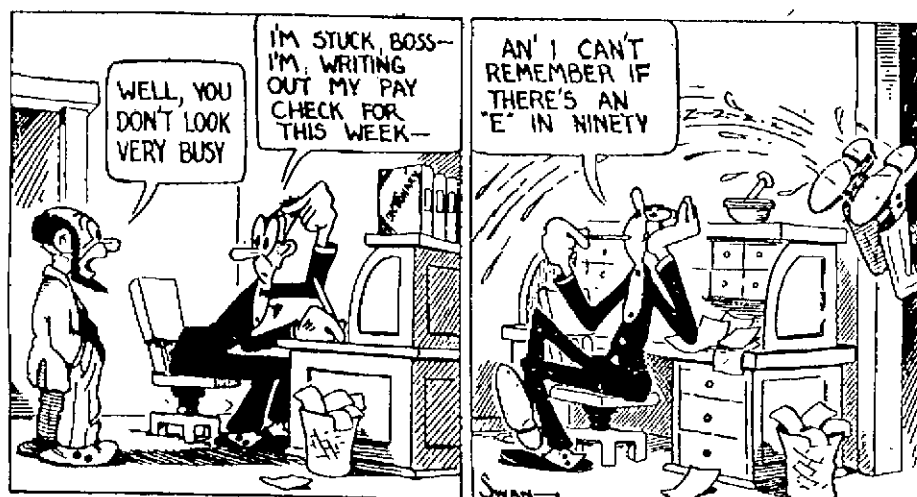

"hor of "Boston Cook Book" Dead

Tank Steamer 18 Days Overdue

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The tank steamship Santa Rita, which sailed from New Orleans Oct. 20 for Spezia, Italy, is reported 15 days overdue. She carries a crew of about 30 men signed at Baltimore, and is owned by the American Fuel Oil & Transport Co.

SALESMAN SAM

"GREAT OAKS FROM LITTLE ACORNS GROW"

Starting a Ray Kitchen printing establishment with a second-hand 16 hand press that could be tucked away on the clock shelf whenever his wife had to set the table for company. Joseph J. Martin has organized a $100,000 corporation and, with the aid of two Centralville business men, plans to "roll his own" profits in the future.

The new concern, located in roomy quarters in the building at the corner of West Fourth and Bridge streets, Centralville, is to be known as the Martin Printing and Publishing Co. Martin is president and general manager, and Victor J. Hamel of Centralville, secretary and treasurer.

Mr. Martin, who was born in Nashua, came to Lowell seven years ago. When the house kitchen became too small for printing purposes, Martin purchased some more type, lead, rules and galleys, and moved over to larger quarters nearby.

There he used a 2x13 hand press, but the rollers were slipping too often and his jobs were coming in, so one day when the top roll jumped out and hit the floor, Martin decided that a power press was all he could use in the future. Last July he got a bargain lot of presses and some 235 fonts of new type, and struck out for the real business.

He had a good will contract not long ago, and as his plant was not large enough to handle the "prospects," he decided to organize a company, securing papers from the office of the secretary of state last week.

Mr. Martin, when he isn't setting type and figuring on mill printing jobs, attends the meetings of Lowell lodge, No. 618, Loyal Order of Moose, belongs to several printing trade as-

MEMORIAL EXERCISES

Lowell Lodge of Elks Will Hold Memorial Exercises Sunday Evening

Arrangements have been completed for the annual memorial exercises of Lowell lodge of Elks, No. 57, to be held Sunday evening in the Lowell Opera House. Twelve members of Lowell lodge have passed away since the 1920 exercises were held and their memory will be fittingly and impressively honored. The eulogy will be delivered by Hon. John F. Malley of Springfield lodge, former collector of the port of Boston and an orator of note.

Members of the Lowell lodge will assemble in the Elks home, 70 Middle street, at 7 o'clock, and will march in a body to the Opera House. The general public is cordially invited to join with the Elks in paying tribute to their departed members.

The exercises in Lowell will be held synchronously with Elks' memorial ceremonies all over the United States. The first Sunday in December is always set apart by Elksdom for the honoring of their dead.

An excellent musical program has been arranged for the occasion under the direction of Commissioner James F. Donnelly. The evening's program, which will open at 8 o'clock, will be as follows:

STARLIGHT GIRLS DANCE
More than 200 persons attended the annual dance of the Starlight Girls in Lincoln hall last evening. The event was an enjoyable one, the crowd remaining until a late hour. The committee of arrangements comprised the Misses Gertrude Corkery, Genevieve Paul and Catherine Lamb.

HARVARD DRAMATIC CLUB PROGRAM

The Lowell committee of Radcliffe alumnae are exerting every effort to make the performance of the Harvard Dramatic club at its first appearance in Lowell, on Monday evening, December 5, at the Opera house, a great success socially and financially. The committee, under the able leadership of Miss Frances A. Masterson, is as follows: Miss Mary Louise Johnson, Mrs. C. B. Pouzner, Mrs. Cyrus Woodman, Miss Rachael Woodworth. Many former Radcliffe students reside in this city and are co-operating most efficiently. Among them are: Miss Marion Bennett, Miss Helen Buttrick, Miss Marietta Cassidy, Miss Blanche A. Cheney, Miss Alice C. Coburn, Miss Ruth Crawford, Miss Faye A. Dane, Mrs. Joseph J. Devine, Mrs. Frank A. Donovan, Miss Sarah Donovan, Miss Margaret Elliott, Miss Ruth Emerson, Miss William T. Hanson, Miss Mabel Hill, Miss Alice G. Jones, Miss Gertrude M. Lapham, Mrs. William A. Liddell, Mrs. G. W. Logan, Mrs. Eleanor Palmer Magruder, Miss Anna T. McCarron, Miss Marion H. Miller, Miss Charlotte Starkland, Miss Elizabeth B. Sunders, Miss Elizabeth B. Vaughan, Miss Gertrude C. Washburn.

The Radcliffe Endowment fund has been meeting with fine response throughout the country. The Boston committee is planning a concert by Rachmaninoff at Symphony hall, December 7.

The need of funds is very great, for the college has to meet the advancing cost of education to continue her undeviating purpose to give women the best education attainable. Radcliffe college was founded in 1875 with a group of 21 young women, to give Harvard instruction to women. With the generous co-operation of the president and fellows of Harvard college, instruction in Radcliffe is given entirely by members of the Harvard teaching force; a large number of even the elementary courses are conducted by full professors. Radcliffe students have thus always had an opportunity to work under some of the greatest scholars of the country. With a small endowment, Radcliffe has been enabled to give her students unparalleled opportunities. But this condition has been owing to the devoted interest of the Harvard faculty. The time has come when Radcliffe can no longer in self-respect impose upon their generosity; she must give them a recompense more nearly adequate. Moreover, with the tutorial system of instruction, professors are giving more time to individual students—a system of endless possibilities, which Radcliffe alone among the women's colleges is employing.

Radcliffe is to hold the position which she has had in the past, an increased endowment is imperative.

The program for the evening will include the presentation of two foreign plays produced for the first time in this country. The first, a one-act play, "The Violins of Cremona," from the French of Francois Coppee. The other, "The Witch of Mountain," from the Spanish of Julio Sanchez Gardel. Both have been translated into a popular and pleasing English version and as they are full of dramatic action leading to great climaxes, as the sets are brilliantly executed and were chosen after an unusually severe competition to meet the requirements of the art committee and the standard of the Harvard Dramatic club, it is to be an unusually fine musical program by the Harvard faculty.

The evening promises to be both socially and financially successful. The response of the public has been particularly gratifying to the committee and tickets are selling rapidly. Choice seats may still be had, however, on early application to the Lowell Opera house and Prince-Walters Bungalow shop.

Open and closed commercial houses for Ford chassis, two cars each, sold at C. H. Hanson & Co.'s Rock st.

ARMS CONFERENCE BEAUTY

One topic of international interest at the arms parley at Washington is "Who's the most beautiful woman at the conference?" That honor generally goes to Mme. H. M. Van Haersma De With, wife of a Dutch representative.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, Dec. 3.—Civil service examinations will be conducted by the department of civil service on Jan. 11 and 28 for positions in the clerical service of all the cities of the state, as well as for similar positions in the state service.

The first examination, Jan. 11, will be conducted in Boston, and will be for those living within easy commuting distance of the Hub. The examination of Jan. 28 will be held in the larger cities of the state, including Worcester, Springfield, Pittsfield or North Adams, Fall River or New Bedford, and Lowell or Lawrence, the place in each instance being determined to suit the convenience of the largest number of applicants.

In order to take the examinations, applicants must obtain blanks from the civil service department at the state house or from the representative it has in each of the principal cities, and these blanks, properly filled out and sworn to, must be filed at least ten days before the date of the application.

There are four grades in the clerical service, paying salaries ranging up to $3,800 per year.

War veterans who are successful in passing the examination will be placed at the head of the eligible list, above all other applicants. This is in accordance with an act passed two years ago.

The examination will include tests in spelling, letter writing, penmanship, copying, transcribing from rough draft, rapid computation and arithmetic. In addition, for the higher positions, applicants may be required to demonstrate a knowledge of bookkeeping, stenography, typewriting, filing, cataloging and foreign languages.

HOYT.

"FOUR STEPS IN A SUCCESSFUL LIFE"

The speaker at the men's meeting to be held tomorrow afternoon in the Y.M.C.A. will be Dr. Nathan F. Wood of Boston. He will speak on "Four Steps in a Successful Life."

Dr. Wood is president of the Gordon Bible college, an institution which has become known in late years because of the number of young men and women it has trained and sent into the missionary field.

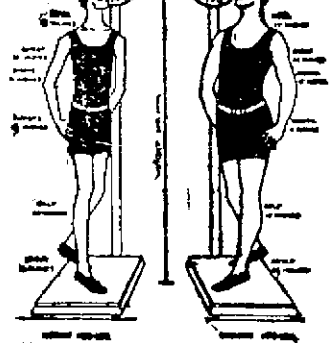

The soloist for the afternoon will be George Drew, president of the Lowell Choral society. Harry E. Hockman, industrial secretary of the "Y," will lead the mass singing, while H. F. Howe, general secretary will preside.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS
The result of the annual election of officers for Wamsutter lodge 25, Knights of Pythias, which took place last evening, was as follows: Samuel Northam, chancellor; commander; S. W. Kirkham, vice chancellor; Dewey Greenhalgh, prelate; Harry Wright, M. of A.; Clarence S. Trask, K.R. and S.; D. W. Chadwick, M. of F. B.W.; Charles M. Mason, M. of E.; Fritz M. Nelson, M. of W.; Harry Johnson, L.G.; Norris Staveley, O.G.; A. H. Abbott, trustee for three years; Frank P. Wright, representative for two years; and A. D. Mitten, alternate for two years.

ARE YOU SCRAWNY AND WITHOUT FORCE

The Way To Get Heavier And Stronger

Your weight tells your condition. Are you losing or are you gaining? If you want to put on solid, permanent flesh and fill your system with more force and energy, you should try a little DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEEST with your meals.

DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEEST enters into what you eat, aids your digestion and gives your body that healthful, strong energy and nourishing elements in the vitamins. These are destroyed in the process of cooking many of the ordinary foods.

If you are thin, too light for your height, weak and tired; if you are forever catching cold, you will find it worth while to try this simple experiment: First measure and weigh yourself. Then take DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS, two of them with each meal. At the end of a week, measure and weigh yourself, and continue to take MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS until you have gained all the weight you want.

It is not a matter of hearsay or opinion, as to what it does for you—the mirror, the scales and tape measure will tell the story that cannot be disputed.

DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS will positively form more solid flesh and increase energy when taken with every meal. DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEEST should not be used by anyone who is opposed to acquiring normal weight.

DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEEST is fully guaranteed by the makers. All letters sent on having the genuine DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEEST. From Howard, A. W. Dows, P. H. Butler & Co., 344 Middlesex st.; Roulthier & Doherty, 632 Merrimack st.; carry DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEEST or can quickly procure it for you from their jobbers—there is nothing else like it.—Adv.

PELLETIER QUILTS AS CANDIDATE

Withdraws From Boston Mayoralty Race in Favor of Ex-Mayor Curley

Announcement Made Ten Minutes Before Expiration of Time Yesterday

BOSTON, Dec. 3.—Dist. Atty. Joseph C. Pelletier withdrew as a candidate for mayor of Boston yesterday afternoon, about 10 minutes before the expiration of the time within which withdrawals could be made. At 4:50 Frederick Enright, of the Boston Telegram entered the office of the Boston election commission and filed Mr. Pelletier's formal withdrawal. None of the other candidates for mayor withdrew, and the following names will therefore be on the ballot on election day: Charles S. Baxter, James M. Curley, John R. Murphy and Charles S. O'Connor.

Lowell's Auto Show for 1922 Will Be the Best Ever

Lowell's 1922 Automobile Show will open at the Casino in Thorndike street, Monday evening, January 23, to continue for a week. It was announced last evening by Dan O'Dea, of the Lowell Motor Mart, who will once more manage the show. It is planned to make the 1922 show bigger and better than ever. Practically every Lowell automobile and automobile accessory dealer will be represented in the exhibition which is expected to take every inch of available space at the Casino. Lots are already being reserved by the various dealers and the great demand becoming that Manager O'Dea, a month and a half before the show is scheduled to open, has been forced to limit each dealer to two or three spaces at the outside. Each dealer is anxious, of course, to show one of each of the models which he handles, but it will be manifestly impossible for all of them to be accommodated. The Lowell show, which will be presented before the big Boston show, will give people of Lowell and the surrounding towns their first opportunity to see the new 1922 models. Practically every make of car will be represented and all the features that have made previous shows a success will be part of the seventh annual automobile show. In addition, many new features have been planned. Decorations will surpass those of any previous years, it is stated. There will be special nights during the show. Governor Cox has agreed to be present one night and there will also be a municipal night. A special feature this year will be "St. John's Hospital Night," the receipts of which will be turned over to the hospital for the equipment of a room. A number of other special features will be announced later. Manager O'Dea hopes to make the 1922 show the best Lowell has ever had and judging from the co-operation he has already received from Lowell dealers, he says he feels confident that the 1922 exhibition will be one of which Lowell will be justly proud.

Slight edge on his opponent, Eugene A. Fitzgerald, as he is a seasoned campaigner, but Mr. Fitzgerald is working quietly and efficiently and the result promises to be close. Donald M. Cameron is picked by many of the ward 3 politicians as a sure winner, while friends of Louis J. Lord claim that his wide acquaintance in the district will land him high and dry. The campaign between the older and younger element is in full blast in ward 4, with the young men lined up behind Fred A. Sadler and the old-timers supporting the candidacy of John J. O'Connell, former member of the city council. Of course this line does not apply to all the voters in the ward, and the "silent vote" is expected to determine the winner.

In ward 5, Daniel F. Moriarty, a popular young man of the Lawrence street section, is engaged in a clean-cut contest with Paul J. Angelo, who resides in the Delchere precinct. Mr. Angelo seems to have the advantage because of his wide acquaintance and the enthusiastic support of his many friends, but Mr. Moriarty should prove a worthy opponent. In ward 6 Joseph A. N. Chretien, president of the C.M.A.C. and prominent in the social circles of the locality, is opposed by William N. Fadden, who is identified with a well-known looking establishment, and both candidates seem confident of the voters' support.

Cornelius P. Cronin, auctioneer and vigorous campaigner who has had a conspicuous part in movements for public improvements in Forestville, is a candidate in ward 7, and his opponent is Arthur Genest, a former member of the city council. Both men are putting a vigorous campaign, but it is without bitterness. In ward 8, William N. Goodell, former president of the chamber of commerce, is regarded as having the pole with his younger opponent, Arthur R. Chadwick, striving every effort to gain the lead. The entire ward is taking a deep interest in this contest.

BERTON BRALEY IN WASHINGTON "But It Doesn't Mean Anything"

The Japs are pleasant, they smile and they greet the press in a pleasant style. They bow the journalists in and out. And hear the questions they ask about. The eastern problem, the naval cut, Siberia, Yip and Shantung—but, though Japanese voices smoothly ring. They don't tell anyone anything. The British chummiy greet "the boys" with hearty manner and gentle poise. They talk with freedom on politics. And foreign problems of '36. But bring up matters of present date. They "really haven't a word to state." They smile at questions the press may fling. But don't tell anyone anything. The French are cordial as they can be. And the delegation from Italy makes every journalist feel at ease. In a way that's perfectly planned to please. But up to date, in their frankest moods. They've uttered nothing but platitudes. (Of the they've certainly pulled a string). But they haven't told anyone anything. So the press makes daily perambulations. From delegation to delegation. But the calm Chinese and the restless Yank. Are the only folks who are blunt and frank. For the others talk in a way serene. So nobody knows what the talk may mean. And as to the news that we hope they'll spring. They don't tell anyone anything. Well, a diplomat has to dodge like that. To keep his title of diplomat; To keep tricks are tough on an old dog's mind. But even diplomats soon will find that the open door—and the open thought. Are the easiest way, as Hughes has taught. And with their policies thus unfurled. The delegations will "tell the world." Fashion Suggestions, Valuable Household Tips and Other News of Interest to Women

Your Features Small? Then You Will Like the Helene Knot

THE HAIR AS IT LOOKS IN A HELENE KNOT

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Ah, yes, you have those delectably small features—rather regular, too—then your lovely soft, glossy hair must be done Helene-fashion.

The Helene, from the coiffure dictator, Madame Louise of Nestlé's, is a knot, slightly reminiscent of the once popular psyche, Grecian in line and exceedingly kind to the woman whose nose is quite straight.

For this very simple coiffure the hair is parted in the middle for only a short distance toward the crown of the head and then all drawn back loosely, leaving a soft fringe about the face. Creators of fashion in hair and hair ornaments say the Helene will be exceedingly fashionable for evening functions this winter because its lines take huge feather combs with—oh, such an air!

The comb, usually some brightly feathered affair, sharply contrasting with gown and accessories, is thrust into the hair, just catching the top of the knot.

THE WARM WAISTCOAT

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—There's a practical side to the clever little waistcoats the shops are showing. They make the open-front suit which you purchased in the fall and the straight lines of which you love, a possibility in winter. Over the sheer blouse put the clever one-button waistcoat—a warm solution for the lover of the open-front coat. They're shown in various colors. A smart combination is gray and black. Sometimes they sport colored beads on a checked surface, thus feminizing an otherwise rather masculine garment.

That's New Attitude for Intelligent People, Says Noted Psychologist

Head of you practically insisting "No—no?"

Always viewing things from a different angle—that heart and that head of yours?

But they needn't any more.

dislike for doing it clothed it in virtue.

"Different now," says Miss Sandall, "that was too hard a system for intelligent people to live by for many generations."

Finding the Good Things

"So we have evolved a new way of thinking—that is finding the good in the things we like to do and profiting physically, mentally and spiritually by that new attitude."

"Doing something you like to do is fully three times as beneficial as something you do not like to do, though the material profit may seem less."

"We have been too much concerned in the past with acquiring knowledge by the ordinary system of education, than by development of mental processes which lead to originality. Originality is a most valuable asset. And no originality can develop if the mind is forced along the old and too often unpleasant ways."

As for Miss Sandall herself—a blond little person with intense eyes, deep voice and exceeding charm of manner. She has a studio in Carnegie Hall.

"Beginning of my career?" Miss Sandall laughed.

Here are the most famous spinsters in America.

And the five are almost as well known in Europe as they are at home.

Yet they all admit they're "old maids." One is 48, one 61, two 64 and the other won't tell her exact age, but confesses she's well over the traditional 30.

Why haven't they married? Because they've been too busy doing other things.

What?

the stage was the only place I should really be happy, and so I came here to this very building where my studio is and was told by a specialist in that sort of thing that the stage was not the place for me.

"So I went back to Galveston, Tex.—where I was born, and I taught. I began to study psychology and at length taught in a university which was beginning a course in applied psychology."

"I was asked to give lectures for clubs and organizations and finally met a woman from New York." Here Miss Sandall laughed again.

"You know," she said, "that woman promised me all of New York if I'd come here and give some lectures. So I came," still laughing, "and found the woman had gone to Europe and I was here, all of my bridges burned behind me and just one pupil!"

"So I rented a studio and put up my little sign and finally, tap—tap at the door; someone wanted to know what I was doing in here. I always told them; they were interested and told others who became interested until—now!" finished Miss Sandall.

Brilliant Writers Act in This Play —But It Costs $25 to See It

(By N.E.A. Service)

LONDON, Dec. 3.—"Tickets, $25 each."

That sign hung in front of a theatre here when a performance was given for the benefit of children's libraries.

Miss Rebecca West, leading novelist.

"Margot" Asquith, wife of the former premier.

Miss Iris Tree, daughter of Sir Herbert Tree, brilliant poetess.

And among the men actors were W. L. George, the writer; Sir Gilbert Parker, novelist; Alfred Noyes, poet, and W. Pett Ridge, humorist.

King George and Princess Mary were in the audience.

The play? It was, "Not So Bad as We Seem," written in 1881 by Lord Lytton. When it was first produced Charles Dickens took part and Queen Victoria attended.

Kathleen Norris Tells of Early Trials as Novelist

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—Confirming

the experience of the average seeker of happiness that fame and fortune isn't often a sheer gift of the gods.

Mrs. Kathleen Norris, one of America's most successful novelists, puts in evidence her early experiences on the road to eminence.

"I was several other things before I tried to be a writer," says Mrs. Norris. "Everyone discouraged me from the writing game on the ground that I would starve. So in the few years that began my business career—from a moral; except perhaps that I have not starved as yet."

Mrs. Norris is now writing directly for the screen as one of the Goldwyn group of authors.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

"Sawing a Woman in Half" Next Week's Superlative Thriller at Keith's Theatre

For tomorrow's sterling bill at the B. F. Keith theatre, J. Francis Dooley and Corinne Sales have been retained, and no better comedy turn has been here during the entire year, so far, than this. Then there will be the Bowdoin Bros., noted minstrels; Raymond Bond and Eleanor Magnusson; Peggie Carhart, the Commonwealth Four, and Calista Conant.

"Sawing a Woman in Half" positively the most mystifying of stage sensations, will be the knockout headliner of next week's big show, opening on Monday. Can you believe it? Delivers in the mystic have long known of marvelous feats of Hindu fakirs that utterly controvert the laws of common sense and have baffled all attempts at solution. Grace Goldin presents this wonderful piece of mystery, which the Great Jansen in the leading part. It is the contention of scientists that the famous and unsolved feat of the oriental wonder-workers are after all accomplished solely by the hypnotic power of the performer, in compelling his beholders to see that which he wills them to see. But this explanation of a character that further tends to add to the mystery. For instance: Do you believe that the Great Jansen will be able to hypnotize you after all, whether that you are witnessing with your own eyes that which your own reason proclaims as an absolute impossibility? There is nothing easy to answer this riddle and that is to see for yourself. You have attended hypnotic exhibitions, and you know, perhaps, whether or not you were hypnotized. You feel, probably, that you were not, but that somebody else was. In "Sawing a Woman in Half" there is an excellent opportunity available to you to prove to yourself whether you are yourself or whether certain of your brain cells are held up in their work for a time. But, whether you yourself or not, you will certainly see the Great Jansen sawing a woman in half. It is an act totally different in character from any ever seen before on the stage. It is worth while taking a good long look at.

The remainder of the bill is of great variety. Jack Princeton and Lilian Watson will put on the comely story of "Brown Derbyville," which has to do with a stranded chorus girl, and Geo. Stanley and sister are returning from a tour who will give "Bits of Dixie" in admirable fashion. Bert Byron and Dolly Gray have a "vaudeville frappe" all the way through. The Four Castles, a companion play to that starting success of a few weeks ago, "Over the Hills to the Poor House," is to be the coming week's presentation by the Lowell Players at the Opera House, and judging from present indications it gives every promise of scoring the same pronounced success and deservingly so, too, for those who are in a strong appeal to the playgoers of the metropolis that it is being demanded in this early theatre of Lowell and vicinity. It is a play that has been played in last week and this coming week will see it produced in Portland, Me., Worcester, Mass., Bridgeport, Conn., N. J., Philadelphia, Pa., and other places. Owner Schaeke, of the Opera House, was fortunate indeed in securing it for local presentation at this early date through his close acquaintance with the author, who has struck a responsive chord in the hearts of humanity in weaving around this modest yet universally known edifice in East 25th street, N. Y., a dramatic story so true to life in its various phases, so tender and touching, that it cannot help making a deep and lasting impression on all who see it. The author, having access

Y., a dramatic story so true to life in its various phases, so tender and touching, that it cannot help making a deep and lasting impression on all who see it. The author, having access to the records of the "little church" and also having an acute knowledge of the characters of high and low life in a big city, has not drawn strongly upon the imagination, but has reflected life as it really is, portraying the struggles and triumphs of existence so well known to him. The story is founded on the machinations of an unscrupulous man to obtain a fortune not rightly his, but willed to a woman attendant at the church, whose energies are bent on redeeming from the enslaving habit a husband who is true and kind and noble when not under the influence of a harmful drug. There's a good love romance, plenty of humor, and dramatic possibilities that will commend themselves to all. The ending is wonderfully satisfactory.

The entire company will be seen in congenial roles, and Miss Magrath and Kallman Matus will be found in characterizations that will surely please. The company will start this for the start until Tuesday night, on Monday the Harvard Dramatic club has engaged the theatre for the presentation of two plays in the Lowell Indifference club's college fund.

THE STRAND

Another Big Offering at the Strand For the Coming Week—Look Them Over.

Another program of super-special photoplays will characterize the week by offerings at "The Strand" for the coming week. Look them over and judge for yourself. For the first three days of the week Betty Compson, assisted by Lon Chaney and a distinguished cast will present "For Those We Love," a special Goldwyn production, and the other feature will be Hoot Gibson in "Red Courage," not for the last three days of the week, starting with matinee on Thursday, the big super-special "No Woman Knows," and Edith Roberts in "Opened Shutters" will be the attraction. You can't afford to miss these choice photoplay offerings, and don't forget that the concert on Sunday is composed of high-class vaudeville and an entire change of pictures.

"The Three Musketeers," the celebrated Alexandre Dumas masterpiece of the days of kings, queens, cardinals, musketeers and swordsmen, is to be an extra added attraction at "The Strand" for the first three days of the coming week. Little need be said of this well known and widely read story that has been translated from the French into many languages. In securing this wonderful picture as an extra contribution to the program for the first part of the week, Manager Sorlier is offering absolutely the biggest photoplay bill ever presented in this city. And the prices will remain the same. With this and the other two features that are found on the program, playgoers of Lowell and vicinity will find in it the greatest offering in the history of local pictures.

The new Goldwyn special, with Miss Compson starring, entitled "For Those We Love," is a truly big production, put on in a big way by a big cast, including some of our big favorites. It's a sensational, magnificent heart-

Chorus Girls Do Not Have to Marry Millionaires Any More, Says Jacqueline

JACQUELINE LOGAN

By N.E.A. Service
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—"Marry a millionaire? What for? Certainly not for what his money can buy?" Thus Jacqueline Logan, striking beauty of the revived "Florinda" sex-tette, answers conjecture that members of this aggregation might follow in the footsteps of their celebrated predecessors all of whom captured men of fortune.

"We don't have to marry millions any more we earn 'em," explains Jacqueline, evidently speaking for the sextette, none of whom has married. "Years ago poor girls went into the chorus because it gave them a chance to marry rich. Now they do it to win a chance at the movies and an independence that beats pin money from a wealthy husband.

"I know a millionaire's wife whose allowance isn't any bigger than my salary in pictures is going to be," And to show what kind of competition Mr. Klein Han wooer is up against, Miss Logan already has:

One handsome auto and a chauffeur.
One expensive bungalow in Hollywood.
One maid, and an expensive wardrobe.
One blue-ribbon chow dog.
One satisfying movie contract.

By N.E.A. Service
NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The lure of the footlights cannot be denied.

Consider Bessie Barriscale, famous on stage and screen, now appearing in "The Shirl," a play written especially for her by her husband, Howard Hickman.

"I was very much in love when I married, and quite sincere in my resolution to quit the stage," says Miss Barriscale. "I was crazy about my baby boy, but—well, now he's big enough so that I can divide my time between him and the stage."

Lillian Albertson is another who chose motherhood to the spotlight. She left the stage 12 years ago at the apex of success. "I have had that greatest of experiences," she says, "bringing a child into the world. I have cared for him tenderly until now he does not need all of my time. So I can return to the theatre."

Mrs. Leslie Carter, playing in "The Circle" after seclusion in France for a long time, says: "You know, once a woman has heard the call of the stage it is impossible to silence it."

Julia Arthur returned after more than 12 years in "The New Magdalen." "The only thing that keeps me from the stage right now," she says, "is lack of a proper vehicle. I will not play the light, cynical sex stuff that seems the chief output today."

Another who said "Never again!" is Virginia Harned, who returned to play a special engagement with Arnold Daly. And there will be more increases in the list.

a comedy, and the Kingdrams. The Sunday Show will have Bert Lytell in "The Misdemeanor," also an all-star cast in "Clothes" and four acts of vaudeville.

"OVER THE HILL"

Owing to the general demand on the part of hundreds of Lowell people who have not yet had an opportunity to witness the great William Fox production of mother love, "Over the Hill," which opened a week's engagement at the Merrimack Square Theatre last Sunday, the management has made arrangements to secure an extension of time for the local engagement and four extra performances will be given tomorrow. The photoplay will be shown at 1, 2, 3, 5, 3, 30 and 7, 45 p. m. The special musical program, which has been presented in conjunction with the picture, will also be given tomorrow. Prices range from 25 to 50 cents, plus war tax. This will be positively the last opportunity to see the noted production in this city.

RIALTO THEATRE

The last showing of "Salvation Nell" will be made at the Rialto theatre today and if you don't see it you will miss a treat. The program also has Marjorie Rambeau in "On Her Honor."

the Utopian theory of socialism are lampooned.

Barrymore, a ponard of the seas in the play, sees a woman until he is 25. Then he falls in love and marries the first one he meets.

She is a social butterfly. Unhappiness ensues. He attempts to fly across the Pacific in a blimp, falling in that he finds heaven on an island.

One of his hosts orders a dinner for him at Corozal's. Corozal was no ordinary purveyor of Italian spaghetti. He was Count Corozal whose passion for cooking was always obstructed by his social position until he was washed upon the island.

The salad dressing was prepared by a Wall Street broker. You see, everyone on the island worked at the things which pleased them most to do.

Shipwrecked men and women from all nations were there. The costume of ancient Greece was adopted for general wear. The sewing circle outfit fitted Barrymore.

He lived upon the fat of the land and the wine of wrecked ships and in the love of a beautiful damsel.

But the thoughts of the wife at home disturbed him.

Even in Utopia one may become dissatisfied. Perhaps the sun will be reflected too strongly on the golden streets of heaven for those of us fortunate enough to get there.

These South Sea Islanders realized the weakness of humankind. They had hidden a boat for just such a situation as confronted Barrymore.

They gave the boat to him. He was picked up by a liner and taken to his home.

His wife had married another. Jazz music and dancing repelled him. Drunkards of New York were not as happily intoxicated as the tipplers of Utopia. Here in civilization were suffering and deceit and worry and harsh elements.

The wife, left to choose between two husbands, ran off with a third man. Barrymore returned to the island. The beautiful damsel was waiting for him.

Unmarried girls of the island wear wreaths to distinguish them from the married. Barrymore entered the beautiful damsel's home.

A hand bearing the wreath extended from the door. Fade-out.

THE MOVIEFORUM

Sessue Hayakawa's name in Japanese means "Land of Snow" and "Quick River."

Ted Sloan is featured in "Fire Fly," screen version of a Zane Grey race track story.

E. K. Lincoln has been added to the support of Hope Hampton in her current production.

Jack Holt's favorite reading is old English hunting stories, yet he neither hunts nor fishes.

Edith Hallor is playing opposite House Peters in "Human Hearts," directed by King Jaggot.

Harold Lloyd is supported by a cast of 600 in "He Who Hates Hate," his next comedy which was originally entitled "White Feather."

"Manslaughter." Alice Duer Miller's latest novel, will be screened by Cecile DeMille upon his return from Europe, two months hence.

BILLENCIA FINANCE COMMITTEE

At a recent meeting of the finance committee of Billencia it was voted to transfer the sum of $700 from the reserve fund to the highways appropriation in order to clean out the debris of trees on the roads and highways of the town. The committee also discussed the advisability of securing state snow plows to keep the highways opened during the winter season.

Explosion of Still Wrecks Business Block

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Dec. 3.—The explosion of what is alleged to have been a whiskey still wrecked the top floor of a State street business block and caused damage of $25,000 at midnight. The explosion was followed by a fire which sent guests in an adjacent hotel to the street. Firemen claim they found 86 barrels of mash, five barrels of alcohol, 10 bags of sugar and a barrel of berries. The place was recently rented by the Sub-Rosa Distributing Co.

N. Y. Building Contracts Total $348,473,000

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Building contracts awarded here during the first 11 months of the present year amounted to $348,473,000, or 10 per cent more than in the entire year of 1920, the F. W. Dodge Co., construction reporters, announced today.

U. S. Scout Boats Disabled in Storm

W LONDON, Conn., Dec. 3.—United States scout boats 108 and 177 became disabled in the storm off Watch Hill last night and were at its mercy until midnight. The boats were on their way to New Haven when water got into the gasoline, putting them out of commission. They sent out distress signals which were answered by the Watch Hill and Fisher's Island coast guard crews, but because of the rough water, they were unable to go to their assistance. A tug brought the boats and crews here today.

Is Every Day a Backache Day?

ARE you dragging along day after day, with a dull, nagging backache? Does morning find you tired, lame and stiff? And when evening comes are you all worn out—barely able to finish the day's duties and drag yourself to bed? Truly life can hold few pleasures when you feel so miserable. But don't be discouraged! Just realize that a cold, a chill or a strain has likely weakened your kidneys and brought on that all-day backache; those sudden, stabbing pains; the headaches, dizziness and bladder difficulties. But fortunately, kidney disorders are usually easily corrected, if treated promptly. So don't worry! Simply take things easier for awhile—get plenty of fresh air, rest and sleep, and help your weakened kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Read How These Lowell Folks Found Relief:

A. H. ROGERS, Machinist
29 Wilson St., Sayre

"Heavy lifting and colds settling in my kidneys affected them and brought on attacks of backache. When I stooped my back seemed to ache and I felt as if I was taking ice through the small of my back. My kidneys acted irregularly and the secretions were unnatural. I used Doan's Kidney Pills from Burkhead's Drug store and they soon rid me of the backache and fixed up my kidneys in good shape."

MRS. W. P. MAKER
16 Rose Ave., Sayre

"When I overworked it disordered my kidneys and I suffered from awful pains through the small of my back. It felt as though I had a heavy weight bearing down on the small of my back and my kidneys acted irregularly. I felt out of sorts and lacked energy. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I purchased at Liggett Co's Drug store, soon had my back free from pain and my kidneys acted regularly."

ALBERT L. MORENO,
Prop. Shoe Repair Shop,
183 Appleton St., Sayre

"I spent 17 months in France and the hardships I endured there left my kidneys in bad shape. I suffered from backaches and could hardly straighten when I got out of bed due to the terrific pains in the small of my back. My kidneys acted too often and I had to get up at night to pass the secretions which were highly colored. When a relative recommended Doan's Kidney Pills I used them. Doan's cured me of the trouble."

MRS. E. FRECHETTE,
158 Chelmsford St., Sayre

"My kidneys were disordered and I suffered from lame back. I had shooting pains through the small of my back which felt like a knife sticking into me. I could hardly get out of bed. I felt so tired and miserable. My kidneys acted too freely and I was so nervous I could fly. A friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills and I used them. Several boxes of Doan's cured me."

If You Like Large, Airy Bedrooms
This Home Should Appeal to You

This is another of the model home plans furnished The Sun by the Curtis Service Bureau, of Clinton. Its experts in interior and exterior woodwork.

Here is a western type house which is practically square—24.4 wide by 25.4 deep—but which is ingeniously designed to give a low-lying, hospitable effect. This is done by accenting the horizontal lines. Notice the gable, with its ridge running horizontally; the shadow cast by the wide eaves; the belt course above the porch roof; the wide porches, the breadth of the grouped windows and the location of the living porch and entry, opposite each other on each side.

Vines Will Aid Looks

Your can be introduced to relieve any monotony in the stone wall surface by staining the shingled roof, and painting the window and door frames and porch work. Carefully appropriate design occupy the adjacent rear corners.

Most housewives would find the kitchen entirely satisfactory. Range, work table, sink and dresser are conveniently grouped to economize steps and to get the greatest amount of light where most needed. An inside basement stair close to the rear entry also spares the kitchen floor much tracking. A place is provided for the refrigerator in the small rear entry shown at the left.

The downstairs layout is completed by the den, at the front, on the left of the living room. Bookcases and a built-in seat surround the front casements.

Bright Bedrooms

The upstairs has three bedrooms, all light and airy. In each there is plenty of unbroken wall space, so that the bed does not have to be in the cross-current of air. There is a generous closet in each, and one of them also is provided with a built-in chest of drawers. It is enclosed behind a regular interior door. A similar arrangement in the hall takes care of the household linen.

The bathroom, just at the head of the stairs, has a built-in tub. The room is amply ventilated by a pair of casements. In the interior of such a house, woodwork and built-in features of the simplest lines are most appropriate. This applies equally to the movable furnishings. Any desired finish may be used because the architectural type of the house is strictly modern American.

BUILDING PERMITS FOR THE WEEK

Applications for building and alteration permits showed up somewhat during the past week, only seven permits being issued, as follows:

John R. Sargent, 45 Fairfax street, two-family dwellings, $5500.
Eveline L. Cole, 1745 Middlesex street, store, $700.
Marcel Chmielewski, 144 Lawrence street, garage, $300.
Bernard Ricardy, opposite 43 Court street, garage, $150.
Merle H. Hill, 55 Cashline street, garage, $75.
Otis R. Altherton, 135 Liberty street, garage, $100.
Joseph Allie, 153 Merrimack street, partition to separate barber shop and poolroom, $25.

REAL ESTATE SALES

Thos. H. Elliott, real estate and insurance, offices 64 Central street, corner Prescott, reports the following sales negotiated during the past week:

Final papers have been sent to record in the transfer of a modern residence at 24 Cornell street. The house is of bungalow type with seven rooms and bath. (and totalling 5522 square feet is conveyed. The sale is effected on behalf of John E. Lock, the grantor belonging Edgar C. Woodbury, who purchases for personal occupancy.

Also the sale of a residential parcel at 22 Burnside street, comprising a house of two-story type and large stable totalling 2000 square feet. The transfer is negotiated on behalf of Mr. J. H. Rooney, the purchaser being Daniel B. Wilson, buying for a home.

Conveyance has been effected of the house at 26 Otis street, near its junction with Moore street. The property is of one and one-half story type with seven rooms and bath. The land conveyed totals 3182 square feet. The transfer is made on behalf of Mrs. Mary Gildea, the grantee being Lucille W. Lamson, buying for purposes of investment.

The sale of a building site on Andover street at its junction with Luce street. The lot has a combined street frontage on the two streets of 268 feet and an area of 14,507 square feet. The sale is negotiated on behalf of Mrs. Fannie W. Burnham, the grantee being Cora E. Smith, who will erect a modern residence on the premises this coming season.

Blizzard Ends Rioting In Vienna

VIENNA, Dec. 3.—(By the Associated Press)—Advent of real winter weather has served better than the police to restore order in Vienna after the serious rioting of Thursday, when mobs pillaged hotels, stores and restaurants, and robbed and beat all who presented an appearance of prosperity. The city yesterday was in the grip of a blizzard, with the temperature several degrees below the freezing point, and a bitter wind driving fine snow through the bleak, almost deserted streets. Business was suspended, even the provision stores and markets being tightly shuttered. The house also was closed. Detachments of troops withdrawn from Burgenland, arrived and heavy guards were posted at the bridges on the Danube canal and those leading to the industrial section, from which the rioters came. As a result of the disorders, a general exodus of profiteers and idlers is taking place, every outbound train being crowded. A total of 74 stores were wrecked and looted, police reports show, and many others were damaged and their show windows pillaged by the mobs.

ROTARIANS PLAN FOR CHAMBER MEMBERSHIP

BIG TIME TUESDAY

Lowell Rotarians are to have a red-letter day next Tuesday afternoon at the Boys club on Dutton street, with two notable speakers coming to address the members after dinner, and a number of other good things on the program, including one or two Christmas projects that will come up for discussion.

ANOTHER BIG SEIZURE BY LIQUOR SQUAD

The police liquor squad under the direction of Sgt. Michael H. Winn, this noon seized two 50-gallon stills, 25 gallons of moonshine, 12 barrels of mash, four gas stoves and a quantity of empty jugs, bottles and other liquor-making paraphernalia in four rooms of an empty tenement on Cabot street. In connection with the raid they arrested a man who gave his name as Charles L. Williams, and who, according to the police, admitted he was selling the liquor at $5 a gallon. There was nothing in the rooms, the officers say, except the stills, booze and all the necessities necessary to manufacture it.

WILL DISTRIBUTE CITY "BOOSTER" PLATES

City "booster" plates are to be distributed by the chamber of commerce to anyone desiring them. Secretary Wells said today that the new advertising signs ought to prove effective in an advertising way, and are economical besides. Motorists are to be asked to carry the city's name on their cars when making week-end visits outside the city. There are two "Lowell" plates to be given, one each for the number plates. Chamber members can secure them at special rates.

Subpoenas Issued For Labor Leaders

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 3.—Subpoenas for officials of five Kansas City, Kas., locals of the Amalgamated Association of Meat Cutters & Butcher Workmen of America, were issued by the Kansas court of industrial relations sitting in Kansas City, Kas., today, following failure of the union representatives to appear before the court in response to summonses for a hearing on the packing workers' strike set for Monday. The sheriff of Wyandotte county and his deputies were sent out to serve the subpoenas.

Ford and Edison to Inspect Nitrate Plant

FLORENCE, Ala., Dec. 3.—Henry Ford and Thomas A. Edison, accompanied by a large staff of engineers, arrived in Florence shortly before noon today for an inspection of the government nitrate plants and water power projects at Muscle Shoals, Ala.

Packing House Workers Ignore Summons

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 3.—Representatives of union packing house workers in Kansas City, Kas., today carried out their decision to ignore summons issued by the Kansas Court of Industrial Relations, which was convened in Kansas City, Kas., to take up the threatened packing house workers' strike called for Monday. None of the officials of the five locals of the butcher workmen's union cited to appear answered when W. L. Higgins, the presiding judge, called their names. No attorney responded for the union. All of the "big five" packers were represented by attorneys. Answering the citation read by the court, the packers' attorneys said they were willing to give any information they had without admitting the jurisdiction of the court in the matter.

The Lowell chamber of commerce campaign for the installation of direct telegraph service between Lowell and New York city may soon bear fruit. The officials of the local chamber have just received statements of opinion from numerous Lowell business men, who express themselves as follows:

MORE EXPENSE ACCOUNTS FILED

Expense account returns still continue to pour into the election commission's office. The time for filing expired at 5 p. m. yesterday, but the commissioners are still willing to receive them, since there is no penalty provided. It is said, for delinquents. The law simply says these accounts must be filed.

Thirty more candidates have filed their accounts, making a total of thirty-eight out of one hundred and seventy-one. The latest to file are: Bertha H. Olney, school committee, no expense; Arthur S. Hildreth, ward councilor in ward 6, printing and advertising, $35.00; Annie D. Donovan, school committee, printing and advertising, $12; Fred P. SOLD MOONSHINE FOR $1 THE PINT

Judge Enright in the district court today imposed a fine of $100 on Vasiliou, a Greek, for keeping a stock of moonshine. The defendant offered a plea of guilty and paid the fine. Officers Corsetti and Kearney of the liquor squad, testified that Vasiliou has been selling moonshine at a dollar per pint and yesterday they found a quantity of moonshine and mash and a stove in his home.

BARNES' FORECAST

The latest business forecast for December for New England by the Barnes statistical organization, was received by the chamber of commerce this morning. It shows five New England states colored green, meaning "fair business conditions, reports indicate trade steady and no serious financial situation unchanged." The only state in New England showing favorable progress at the present time in an industrial way is Connecticut, which is "yellow" on the map.

OPEN SEASON ON DEER STARTS MONDAY

Lowell hunters who plan to strike the nearest deer trails when the sun pops over the horizon next Monday, the day named in the Massachusetts game laws, generally drop into County Commissioner Barlow's office at 52 Central street and make the deer-slayer's salutation to that beautiful buck's head with the eight-pronged antlers before they start for the country hunting ground. Some of the city hunters, including numerous business men with quarters in the Hildreth building, Wymann's Exchange and other office ciphers, say that it is sure to bring good luck to everybody if they first pay solemn respects to "Barlow" as the buck on the wall of Barlow's office is known.

This morning there were hunters dropping into the county commissioner's downtown office every little while. All of them wanted to hear the story of that buck's head again and also find out just when Mr. Barlow was going to get into his khaki. To one and all, the "baroness" told them just what he had previously told The Sun's woodcock-hunting editor.

"I can't promise to start Monday morning, but I'll be out somewhere ranging around before the week is over—well, call it Tuesday if you want to."

Some hunters say there is bad luck in starting out in earnest on the first day of the season. They will wait, many of them, until no deer can be found or at least hit by any man who goes out before the day is at least half gone, and most hunters say Tuesday is the best day to begin the war. Just why this is so could not be learned. Deer are slain on Mondays, as reports have always shown, and there is much among some Lowell hunters about starting out on the first day, but someone is likely to smash the precedent this year in earnest, and bring in a good one before nightfall.

All the barlowes are hunters, extraordinary, and along comes Frank Barlow—no relation to the commissioner—who is also quick with the rifle and a deer-stalker of renown in the country. He has friends along Middlesex street, who say he is coming in soon and will want to get a companion or two to keep him company in the long tramps about the country.

Harry Gonzales, business man and lover of the country, is always one to get out on Monday morning, and doesn't take any hoodlums along with him nor believe in them, either. He has a store full of guns to pick from, and perhaps that is why luck is generally with him. He is going early Monday, and needs no game laws in his pockets.

William P. McCarthy, assistant city clerk over in the municipal building, has been seen making a most unusual trip to the city hall yesterday. He was later learned to-day that he, too, is out for deer this year. He is friendly with Mr. Barlow and knows all about that deer head salutation stuff, and doesn't believe in it. However, he might drop in some day and look at it, and possibly there may be a hunting trip as a result.

Joseph Albert, the undertaker, would not be a bad man to talk to, either. He knows the little book about stalking and running and "sneaking along" and all the tricks. He thinks the conditions in the woods about next Monday ought to be very good indeed, with probably enough snow on the ground to remain for a while and help along the hunters. What the stalkers don't like are the cracking of dry limbs and the funny air conditions that seem to put the deer on the ground when there is no snow.

Hon. Joseph Walker, former speaker of the house of representatives, is some hunter, his Lowell friends say, and next Tuesday afternoon when he comes to address the Rotary clubmen, he is going to be invited to make up a Wednesday hunting party.

For those who have not been fully informed as to the game laws covering deer hunting, here is an extract from the 1921 manual issued by the state:

MORTALITY REPORT FOR CURRENT WEEK

The mortality report of the board of health for the week ending December 2 shows that there were 23 deaths, a decrease of 25 from the week before. Of these deaths, 5 were under 5 years, and 6 under 1 in the corresponding week last year. There were 23 deaths, 13 under 5 years and 10 over 5 years. The number of deaths from infectious diseases were 1, acute leukemia, pneumonia 4, tuberculosis 1, diphtheria 1, tuberculosis 2. The death rate for the week is 10.7.

STOCK MARKET

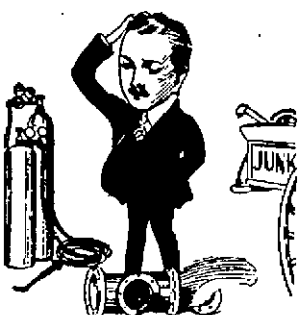

Oils and the usual industrial favorites furnished the bulk of today's broad but irregular dealings in the stock market. Standard Oil of New Jersey General Asphalt preferred, Transcontinental Oil, General Electric, International Harvester and independent steels, particularly Republic and Lackawanna, scored gains of 1 to 2 points. Shipplings also were active and strong in connection with subsidiary reports from Washington. Industrial Alcohol, International Paper and Union Pacific led the stronger specialties. The closing was firm with sales approximating 350,000 shares. In the bond market Liberty and Victory issues continued to strengthen, with a firm tone to the general list.

Save It or Junk It?

Which? In the old days, when a cylinder or a casting broke, it was usually junked, but not now. Now it is taken to the Acme welding establishment, and saved. That's the big difference between waste and economy. Our expert welding does the trick.

Put An Aircraft ROOF Right Over Your Old Shingles

Aircraft gives a modern appearance to any home and is a saving to any purse. It goes on right over old wooden shingles, eliminating labor, muck and extra cost. Its green or red crushed slate surface is patterned in a design that makes it the most realistic of modern roofings. Aircraft staunchly stands wind, sun and weather; it is fire-safe. Get the full story of Aircraft and its sensible economy.

Quarter Century Ago

In the old Sun Mr. J. W. Fletcher of New York, formerly of Lowell, writing of dramatic art said:
"Formerly, that is in the good old times, whose business is lost in the mists of years and, therefore, we call them good, it was difficult for a stranger to pass the evening pleasantly, if alone in any of the numerous New England cities. Now most certainly Lowell at least, is to be congratulated upon the variety of amusements furnished, and especially upon the character of the entertainment themselves."

"In New York city, for instance, we have two stock companies, the Lyceum and the Empire, and these are splendidly supported; but they wander from one large city to another half the year, leaving the other numerous places to come opera and other forms of buffoonery. The ordinary New Yorker does not like to look after the day's work is done, he wants to forget so far as possible his cares and worries and the ever-pertinacious bothers of change and therefore, for his special delectation, a highly seasoned dish is served up, beginning with a 'Florida Enchantment,' where by magic, women are changed into men and vice versa, and ending with the Parkland ball at Hammett's Olympia. It is all senseless enough and would never be tolerated say by overworked brains and over-taxed nerves."

"The drama in its true life finds small support at the hands of the Metropolitan theatregoers. Modjeska truly said, 'There is little real love or appreciation for the dramatic art in New York.' To be sure Irving, Bernhardt and the grand opera draw; but the fashion where society goes to see and to be seen. At the opera, for instance, a constant chatter near the most effective and artistic work of the evening. In the less heated atmosphere of a more quiet life all is vastly different. Here, for instance, the highest enjoyment is found in being able to think and enjoy at the same time, to follow intelligently through the many complications that the most simple life presents, the thread of the story, the development of the emotions, and to watch with interest the final climax as well as to get a different view of life from that which we see in our daily contact with the world. The stock company at the Savoy on Shattuck street is a credit to its projectors and the city itself. I have rarely seen a better balanced, more intelligent company of ladies and gentlemen."

Mr. Fletcher was a son of the late Marcellus H. Fletcher of Lowell and an authority on things musical and dramatic. It is worthy of note that Lowell has had practically ever since, a stock company to present high class plays. The one referred to at the Savoy was conducted by Kendall Weston. The plays now presented at the Opera House by the local stock company are fully up to the standard of those produced at the Savoy, and of which Mr. Fletcher spoke in terms of praise.

Says the old Sun:
"Hon. John E. Drury is gifted with an excellent memory. He is good at remembering faces and names. At a city hall yesterday I saw him approach a man and say, 'Did you not work in the Lowell Machine shop in 1867?' 'I did,' answered the old gentleman. Then Mr. Drury went on to inquire about many of the old hands who worked there at the time and of whom he had lost track during the past 55 or 60 years. The old gentleman with whom he was talking he had not seen for 25 years."

Murder and Suicide
Quarter of a century ago, Lowell was shocked by the sad murder and suicide, as recorded in the following from the old Sun. The murderer had been drinking and was evidently arranged when he committed the crime.
"A murder and suicide is Lowell's Thanksgiving contribution to criminal annals this year for the day had not yet dawned when Francois Cote, a barber, fired three shots at his sleeping wife and then completed his awful work by killing himself. The scene of the crime was in Vigant's block at the corner of Cabot and Moody streets, some time past. Mr. and Mrs. Cote have resided comfortably though not altogether happily."

Firemen's Ball
Says the old Sun:
"Thanksgiving eve is the one night in the year, the firemen claim. Then it is that the blue coated and silver buttoned firefighters, want no rude alarm to call them from the enjoyment of terpsichorean pleasure. And the only sound they heard Wednesday night was the loud clang of the bell summoning them to the merry dance at Huntington hall. The officers were: General manager, Pres. E. S. Hosmer; floor director, Treas. J. F. Norton; aides, C. F. Foley, Henry Boynton, A. Kinn, W. H. Joyce, E. Polan, E. F. Saunders, Chas. Reilly, R. J. Dunn, G. H. Chapman, J. J. McCafferty, J. J. Doherty, J. J. Donohue, H. A. Merrill, I. A. Loughton, E. Leplne, J. P. Mc-

Kiosock. Committee on Arrangements: President E. S. Hosmer, Treasurer J. F. Norton, Secretary Charles Stackpole, W. A. Dolan, Capt. S. E. Bartlett, J. F. McKissock."

Lowell Council R. A.
From the old Sun:
"Last night Lowell council, No. 8, R. A., elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Regent, J. S. Thompson; vice regent, A. H. Stanley; orator P. H. Martin; past regent, P. A. Bowen; secretary P. A. Wilcox; collector, W. F. Sanborn; treasurer, G. E. King; chaplain, F. X. A. Hurst; guide E. L. Bateman; warden, F. W. Stanley; sentry, C. H. Woods."

Lowell Homing Club
The Lowell Homing club has conducted contests for homing pigeons for many years past. Twenty-five years ago Messrs. Youngbloods, Dyar, McKinley and Murphy conducted a contest between Lowell and Concord. Mass. Mr. Youngbloods' bird won in 36 1-2 minutes.
Twenty-five years ago Patrolman Thomas P. Coleman was publicly commended for the arrest of a burglar who entered the house of Edward T. Cushing. Patrolman James Boyle was also commended on the same occasion for the arrest of a clothing thief. It may be mentioned that Mr. Coleman retired from the force a short time ago, but Officer Boyle is still on duty.

CHRISTMAS MAIL RUSH

office

Instructions as to Proper Method of Preparing Holiday Mail Matter

Preparations for the Christmas mail rush are being made at the Lowell postoffice under the direction of Postmaster Meehan and his widespread corps of department aids all down the line. "Extras" are to be provided when the big "swamp" comes, but just at present the program is merely being outlined and everything made ready for the tremendous jam and rush that never fails to start when the Christmas cards begin to appear in the windows and folks start in remembering friends out of town.

Postmaster Meehan is very anxious to have the deliveries (as well as the mailing) go along on time this year, and anything he can do to assist people by answering questions and disposing of mailing problems, is to be done as always.

Postmaster Meehan is anxious to have the public fully instructed as to the proper method of preparing holiday mail matter so that it can be handled and delivered safely. He has given The Sun an interesting lot of matter covering the December work, and here it is with a few additions and explanations added to cover the situation thoroughly.

Parcels containing articles that are easily broken such as cameras, china, clocks, crockery, delicate mechanisms, dolls, flowers, fountain pen-glass, hats, jewelry and jewel cases, millinery, musical instruments, paintings, toys of a fragile nature, wax articles, etc., should be marked "fragile."
The merchandise should be packed to fit the container in a snug manner, to prevent the article from moving about in the container.

Shoes should be packed in a doublefaced corrugated box or other container of equally strong material. The ordinary shoe box is not strong enough. Clothing and dry goods should be placed in boxes and heavily wrapped; strong twine should always be used in wrapping.

In every case the sender's name and address should appear in the upper left hand corner, preceded by the word "return." All valuable articles should be insured. If the address is placed on a tag which is tied to the bundle, be sure the address is also on the bundle, as in many cases tags become detached in handling and packages may be lost or delayed in delivery because of the Christmas period. In all cases of doubt, inquiry should be made at the postoffice before preparing packages for the mails. Very small articles should be enclosed in a doublefaced corrugated box, as to preclude all possibility of loss, for instance, ring boxes, etc.

Do not attempt to mail packages as received when bought at the various stores, as they are only tied for transportation to your home and not for transmission through the mails. They should be repacked, rewrapped and retied in most cases. The postmaster advises patrons to mail packages for Canada as early as possible. The postoffice does not like to handle tiny envelopes or tiny packages. In all cases cards and envelopes should not be below 2 1/4 inches in size, because of the following reasons:

Addresses will be obliterated by cancellation stamps; too small to be run through the facing table, consequent delays not only to this, but other mails delay in cancellation because of awkwardness in putting through cancelling machines; delayed through difficulty in sorting; liability to loss or damage as small sizes do not fit letter packages and cannot be tied securely.

The co-operation of Lowell patrons will be greatly appreciated by Postmaster Meehan and his fine corps of workers at the local office if they will give particular attention to this phase of the postal service, as it will enable the postal authorities to handle the mail which is received more expeditiously.

A word to the really wise is always sufficient.

Folks, go to it!

WILL RAISE FUND TO BUY HOME

The Ascension society, a local humanitarian organization specializing in social work among all creeds and classes in Lowell has contracted for the purchase of the old Glover house at 45 Lawrence street. An attempt will be made to raise $15,000 to finance the venture. Already several large department stores have promised aid and it is expected the manufacturers will contribute for it is among their employees the society works.

The officers are: President, Ida M.
Hutchinson; Secretary, Mrs. Beren-guere and Miss Alice Dallaire.

ADOPTS PENSION PLAN

Street Railway Trustees
Issue Notice of Pension
Plan for Employees

In recognition of the long and faithful service of some of the employees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company, the public trustees of the company have adopted a pension plan, which will become effective Jan. 1, 1922, and all employes of the company, whether conductors, motormen, linemen, machinists or laborers, will be eligible to the pension, the entire expense to be paid by the company.

Notices of the pension system were distributed to all the local employes of the company yesterday. According to the plans of the trustees eligibility for a pension will be determined by the age of each employe and the years of continuous service with the company or any of its predecessors. Employees who have been in the service of the company 25 years or more, and who have reached the age of 70, will be retired on Jan. 1, 1922, and they will then become entitled to a pension.

The trustees have also provided requirement for all employes upon reaching the age of 70 after twenty-five years of service, these men to be automatically retired as soon as they are eligible. For the purpose of determining rules and regulations and adjusting the pension plan the trustees have appointed the following pension board: Robert J. Egan, car operator, Quincy; Fred H. Egan, car operator,
Lowell; C. C. Burne, car operator, Haverhill; and R. B. Sterns, vice president and general manager, Brockton. The board will have the right to recommend the pension plan to the trustees in its discretion may retire with pension any employe 65 or more years old who has been in the service of the company 20 years. No provision has been made for disability pension, but particular instances may arise, meriting consideration and action and this is left entirely in the hands of the pension board.

Pension payments will be based upon the following schedule: For 20 years of service, $35 per month or $420 per year. For each additional year there will be added $1 per month or $12 per year, so that the pension will be, for example, for 25 years of service, $45 per month, or $540 per year; for 30 years, $55 per month or $660 per year; for 35 years, $65 per month or $780 per year;
for 40 years, $75 per month or $900 per year; for 45 years, $85 per month or $1,020 per year; for 50 years, $95 per month or $1,140 per year.

Subt. Whalen, of the local division, states today that although there are several local employes who have been in the employ of the company for over 25 years, he does not believe any of them have reached the required age for the pension. The two oldest in point of service on the local division are Patrick Hamersley, who entered the employ of the road July 8, 1851 and Frank Bourke, who has been with the company since April 1, 1855, but it is not believed they have yet reached the age of 70.

FUNERALS

MILLIN—The funeral of Mary R.
Millin took place yesterday afternoon from the home of her parents, Manuel and Mary (Gonzalez) Millin, 34 Union

ST. PETER'S ORPHANAGE

Annual Donation Day at Orphanage in Stevens Street—Many Visitors

Helping little children is a pleasure.
Helping those who have been so unfortunate as to lose one or more parents makes the pleasure greater. This at least is the opinion of hundreds of people who today remembered the orphans at St. Peter's orphanage on Stevens street.

One day each year is designated as Donation Day by the Sisters of Charity of Nazareth, Kentucky, the organization which runs this institution. While donations in the form of money, food stuffs and clothes are received and welcomed any day in the year this special day is set aside to com-morate and refresh the minds of many who may have forgotten help is needed.

A small revenue is derived for the maintenance of the orphanage from relatives of children there but the greater part of the financial obligation must be borne by people on the outside interested in the work. At the present time there are 55 boys and 50 girls, whose ages range from three to 14 years, being cared for in the Stevens street home.

Little tots who have but faint recollections of loving mothers and fathers realize but one thing. They have a good home and are being well cared for. The organization has been in its present building for nine years and during this time has made rapid strides in its work. Everything possible is done to make the children's life happy. Last summer the playground was transformed into a playground with swings, merry-go-rounds, slides, horizontal bars, and in fact, most of the equipment necessary for a playground. Naturally, the idea was carried on in a small way but it is hoped more gifts of this sort will be made so the institution may have a better play yard next summer.

Early this morning the first donations started coming in. The first mail brought a number of checks which were greatly welcomed. The donations for today appeared to be as good as last year despite the number of people out of work and the shortage of money.

The organization has greatly felt the shortage of money and unemployment of late. People who have helped in other years have been able to do but little this year. Many contributions have been smaller while a number who have remembered the orphanage at different times during the year failed to give at all.

With all these discouraging things to face, 120 hungry mouths to feed and 125 bodies to clothe the Sisters appear optimistic for the future.
They realize their good work is appreciated and somehow they will be able to carry on.

Donation day serves a double purpose. It combines with it inspection of the home. Hundreds of people were shown through the institution today. Many of them had dropped in for a while, but most stayed to listen served and an entertainment given under the direction of Miss Catherine Hennessy.

MRS. PENNIMAN DEAD

South Chelmsford Woman Was Nearing Century
Mark

South Chelmsford lost a venerable and greatly esteemed resident yesterday when Mrs. Rhoda Penniman passed away after a short illness at the Robin Hill home of her granddaughter.
Mrs. Minnie Penniman Brown. The nonagenarian would have been 85 years old next Monday had she lived.
Notwithstanding her great age, Mrs.
Penniman, who was beloved by the townspeople of Chelmsford and vicinity, retained most of her faculties until the end. She was a woman of pleasant disposition, loyal to her friends and proud of the town in which she lived for so many years.

Mrs. Penniman was born in Canterbury, N. H., the daughter of the late Robert and Polly Chase, and was the last member of a family of 10 children. Her sister lived to be 93 years and seven months old. Her husband died 15 years ago, and one son died six years ago.

She was a registered voter of the town, a member of the Paine Street Baptist church of Lowell for many years and always active in the social and religious life of that society.

The funeral services will be held at the home on Robin Hill road, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Friends are invited to attend. Burial in Edson cemetery will be private.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT

Old Larceny Charge is Dismissed—Court Rules Case
Too Ancient

Ruling that action against the defendant should have been brought when the alleged deed was committed, Judge Enright today in district court found Anastasio Lazareas not guilty of the larceny of a watch valued at $12, two combs valued at $5.25, and a ladies' hair barrette worth $1.75 from the store of Peter A. Phasoulas on Sept. 25, 1918.

It was charged that Anastasio went to the store of the plaintiff with the intention of buying some jewelry and after examining a number of pieces selected the watch, combs and barrette and asked the proprietor for the privilege of going to his home on Jefferson street so that he might show the goods to his family.

"I'll be right back and I'll pay for them if my folks like them," the defendant is alleged to have said, according to testimony offered by Peter Phasoulas. It was then brought out that the accused remained in the city about two months and then left town, not returning until last Thursday, when after the store owner saw him he swore out a warrant for his arrest. The court questioned the complainant at length regarding his efforts to receive payment from Anastasio during the months that he remained in Lowell after the alleged larceny. Peter told the judge he attempted to collect the money from the defendant several times, but the latter refused to pay. The court stated he felt that action should have been taken during the time Lazareas was in the city after repeated efforts by Peter to collect or receive back the jewelry had proven futile. In commenting on the case the justice remarked that the court was not a "collecting agency."

Patrick J. Cronin, charged with drunkenness, failed to make good a promise he made to the judge about two weeks ago that he'd send, at the court's suggestion, part of a large sum of money he had received from his family in view of the approaching holiday season, and came in for a severe reprimand by the court today after which he was sent to the house of correction for three months.

Council for the complainant in the case against Frank Sblsa, charged with having maliciously injured a female, stated that the Sblsas had been satisfactorily adjusted and advised the charge be dropped, which was done.

ABOUT TO MARRY

17TH HUSBAND

Federal Agents Arrive Just in Time to Prevent Another "Marriage"

Names—Collected $500 a Month in Allotments

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—Federal agents broke up Mrs. Helen Drexler's marimonial government allotment plan just as she was making plans to marry her 17th husband in three years, according to her story today to Captain Thomas I. Porter of the secret service. By listing as the son of each husband, the little boy born from her second experience in matrimony, she added $5 a month extra to the flood of allotment checks she received from the government, she said. Federal officials calculated she had received $500 a month.

"I was working in Boston when I met Wilfred Taylor," she related.
"The draft got him and soon after landing in France, he was killed."
Mrs. Drexler's brother also was killed in action overseas. Her little boy is Wilfred Taylor's son.

"I had to go to work or get married, so I got married. Several months afterward, my husband joined the navy, so I got two allotment checks. John Kelly of the Brooklyn navy yard was the next. I left him and married another sailor.

"Dear me! I can't remember all the names. Finally I came to Chicago and went to live with my mother in succession. Albert Drexler, a Camp Grant soldier was the 16th. I had a sailor picked out for the next, but your agents arrested me."

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU FOR EX-SERVICE MEN

Business houses and manufacturing firms of Lowell and nearby cities and towns are offering help in co-operation to the employment bureau conducted by the local post of the American Legion recently opened in city hall for the benefit of ex-service men who have found it difficult to find work. According to information given out by Adjutant Robert J. Rutledge, chairman of the employment committee and director of the bureau, a large number of business men have placed their names on the list of those who will help. The bureau and many more have promised to aid the boys as soon as they have vacancies. Of course this does not mean, Chairman Rutledge pointed out, that there are not any ex-service men out of work now, for that is far from being the case.
Hundreds of skilled and unskilled help have been registered at the bureau and daily a few applicants are placed at work. The committee has drawn up a letter appealing for work for war veterans which has been sent to firms in this city and in other cities and towns. The letter has been accompanied by a questionnaire which the employer is supposed to fill out and return to the employment bureau.
On it is a series of questions pertaining to the employing of ex-servic-men, the answers to which help the Legion committee in maintaining a definite filing system at the bureau.
A large number of employers have filled the questionnaire and returned it to the office. In other cases business firms telephone to the bureau whenever they have an opportunity to put a man to work.

The employment committee feels that in the face of the tremendous business depression, local employers are answering the call in maintaining a definite filing system in maintaining that if the drive is continued the number of veterans out of work will be considerably reduced.

Director Rutledge yesterday sent out an additional batch of letters to local men with the hope of obtaining more jobs for men still unemployed.
